Kindergarten Program To Become Specially Designed At Shawsheen

By Susan Rand

No longer will Andover's kindergarten teachers have to keep their students from disturbing the older children in the town's elementary schools. Come September the young kindergartners will have their own school especially designed for their noise and activity.

After two years without students the Shawsheen School will be re-opened as an Early Childhood Center for over 350 children aged three to six. Interior work is progressing at the former elementary school, which was most recently used for office space by school administrators, said Linnea Gershenberg, the coordinator for the Early Childhood Center.

The theory of learning at Shawsheen, which was rebuilt and renovated in 1956, will be similar to the 1970's "open concept" where students were schooled in buildings with few walls that were all movable. At Shawsheen the classrooms will all have walls, said Gershenberg, but children won't be grouped in classes simply because they are a certain age. Instead they will be evaluated so teachers can best understand the developmental level of each student.

It is important, explained Gershenberg, to understand that kindergarten isn't just a "year of playing." It is, she said, a year of transition where the youngsters get their first taste of school.

"Kindergarten approximates the complicated day that the children are going to have in the first grade," Gershenberg said. "This is a year where we want to make the children feel very good about themselves."

The school department's concept of pre-first grade education has an emphasis on whether each child is ready to make the change from kindergarten to first grade. If a youngster is not ready, the child may be given what Gershenberg calls "a gift of time." Besides the 16 classes of kindergarten students scheduled for morning and afternoon sessions at Shawsheen there will be two "readiness" classes. The readiness classes, which have been in operation since 1979, are for children who are not yet ready for first grade but have finished a year of kindergarten. This intermediate step is necessary, said Gershenberg, because if a student enters the first grade and is not ready for it, she or he will fall quickly behind.

"We don't want to do anything too early," said the educator. "It is the easiest way to turn the youngsters off to learning."

Besides the two readiness classrooms and the eight kindergarten rooms there will be an early childhood classroom at Shawsheen. That will house a class for children, in some cases as young as three, who, after close evaluation, would benefit from early "intervention." They may be having difficulty with speech or motor coordination, said Gershenberg.

The idea for a central kindergarten facility is not new in town. Superintendent Ken-

Student To Enter Piano Competition

Robert Devaney, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Devaney, Argilla Road, will perform two piano solos, "New Orleans Blues" by Glover and "March Militaire" by Chopin, at the Massachusetts Music Teachers Association's annual contest and evaluation on Sunday, June 10, at the University of Massachusetts Amherst campus.

Robert will audition for a judge at 11 a.m. in the Fine Arts Center. He will be eligible for a trophy and the opportunity to play in a recital that afternoon. Also playing will be 117 music students from all over Massachusetts. A reception for all the performing students will be held before the recital.

Robert placed first in a recent music festival at the University of Lowell. He is an honor student at

Robert Devaney

West Junior High School and plans to attend Phillips Academy in the fall. Robert has been a piano student of Gertrude T. Brouady for the past seven years.

Planning Fourth Observance

Andover's Committee for Patriotic Observances in the midst of plans for its third annual 4th of July celebration which will feature a few new twists this year.

Tentative plans call for an all-town breakfast and a morning Horribles Parade, followed by games and field events.

Following a break in mid-day, late afternoon plans include break dancing lessons, an open-air band concert and an outdoor movie at dusk.

Volunteer organizations interested in food concessions are encouraged to contact Mrs. Cheryl Francis, 24 Rock O'Dundee Road, or Marty Schmidt, 33 High St.

Permits, Licenses Approved

A June bicycle race and a picnic luncheon at Phillips Academy were among springtime festivities that were approved last week by the Board of Selectmen.

The board voted to grant the American Lung Association of Essex County permission to use Andover roadways for its Town and Country Bicycle Tour, scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. Sunday, June 17, in North Andover. In Andover, the route will include Highland Road, Salem Street, South Main Street, Gould Road, Harold Parker Road, and Jenkins Road.

Phillips Academy was granted a one-day beer license for noon to 2 p.m. June 9, when an alumni picnic luncheon will be held on the front lawn of Borden Gymnasium at the academy.

New England Telephone was given a permit to lay cable under Bellevue Road to serve Stouffer Circle. Bay State Gas won permission to excavate to complete work at a corner of High and Haverhill streets, on High Street, in Argilla Road and in River Street.

Acting as sewer commissioners, the board approved a sanitary sewer connection for one lot on Worthen Place in the Andover Country Club development.

And the board approved a request from Frans and Mita Feding vanBerkhout of The Duck of Andover (a restaurant proposed for 18 Elm St.) to pledge their all-alcoholic liquor license as collateral to the U.S. Trust Bank of Boston. The selectmen will maintain authority over the license.

Selectmen, Planners In Session

The Board of Selectmen will take up the subject of water and sewer rates again when they meet next week, while the Planning Board is scheduled to discuss their policy on preserving open space in town.

The selectmen will meet at 7:30 Monday night at the town offices on Bartlet Street, with the major topic on their agenda a discussion of water and sewer rates. Last week, the board amended their water and sewer policy to eliminate the stipulation that property taxes must help cover the cost of providing those services.

And the planners will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the town offices, in a joint session with Conservation Commission members, to discuss general policy on open space in cluster subdivisions.

Later during that meeting, the board will discuss the master plan issues of parking and central business district development, and consumer services in West Andover. And a public hearing on proposed modifications to plans for the Jenkins Estates subdivision is scheduled to begin at 9 p.m.

School Board To Evaluate Superintendent

Members of the Andover School Committee will meet for their next meeting on Tuesday, June 5, at 7:30 p.m., in the school committee meeting room on the second floor of the new town building, above the senior citizen's center.

The only agenda item scheduled to date is an evaluation of Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert by members of the committee.

Black Flies Not A Health Problem

This spring's annual crop of black flies is larger than last year's but there aren't any major health problems as a result of the insect influx, said town Health Director Everett Penny.

Penny did say he thought the unusually wet spring may be responsible for the large population of flies. Andover inspectors doing percolation tests have noticed more flies than last year, said Penny. He advised using insect repellents when out near the small insects. Penny also said he had not received any special warnings about the annual spring flies from the state Department of Public Health.

Business Teachers Attend Seminar

Four business teachers from the Andover public schools, Priscilla Lucy and Ramona Pappalardo from West Junior High and Everett Rudolph and Carmelina Galvagna for Andover High School, attended a professional teacher seminar sponsored by Boston University School of Education at Braintree.

The theme of the seminar was "Getting Results in Business Education."

The program was made up of four special features, "Keyboarding in the Information Age," "Getting Results in Accounting Instruction," "The One-Minute Teacher" and "Getting Results with Word Information Processing."

The teachers were awarded a certificate of participation at the end of the seminar given by Houghton Mifflin Company.

Correction

In the listing of Memorial Flags in the May 24 edition of the TOWNSMAN, the donation of Mrs. Joseph A. O'Dowd and family should have been listed in memory of Joseph A. O'Dowd, a veteran of World War II, rather than James A. O'Dowd.

The fear that he might conceal a joke was said to be one reason that Benjamin Franklin was not entrusted to write the Declaration of Independence.

Receives Award In Research

John M. Williamson, a junior at Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn., has received a $100 prize for research in psychology. He is the son of Grace M. Williamson, St. Louis, Mo., and Don P. Williamson, Andover.

The award is given each year to a junior psychology major to support independent research during the senior year. Williamson's entry, "The Effect of Hippocampal Lesion Size on Radial-Maze Ability in Rats," was chosen by a committee of faculty and senior students.

Founded in 1874, Macalester College is a selective, privately funded liberal arts college affiliated with the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.). The college has an enrollment of 1700 students and is nationally known for its academic excellence, quality faculty, innovative curriculum and broad international programs.

INTRODUCING EQUITY LINE: A MOST INTELLIGENT WAY TO BORROW.

The smartest investment you ever made can now pay off. If you own a house or condominium, your mortgage payments and market appreciation have been building your equity – probably lots of it.

Now you can turn that equity into cash – up to $100,000 – whenever you wish with Bank of Boston's Equity Line, a revolving credit line you access by writing a check.

EQUITY LINE: ONE LOAN DOES IT ALL.

With Equity Line, you can buy a boat or take a cruise. Redo the kid's playroom or pay for their education. Restore an antique car or buy a new one. Equity Line is always available for emergencies or life's surprises. Use it for whatever you want, whenever you want, as often as you want.

EQUITY LINE: BORROW AT AN EXCELLENT RATE.

When the need arises, you can borrow with an adjustable rate that varies with the Bank's Base Rate. Your rate will be adjusted monthly to 2% above this rate; this is the most favorable rate structure that Bank of Boston has ever offered to the consumer. Right now, that's a 14% Annual Percentage Rate.

EQUITY LINE: THE SMARTEST WAY TO BORROW.

There are no application or annual fees. You control your repayment schedule. So you may pay it off all at once or pay as little as 2% of your outstanding balance; it's your choice.

To find out more about Equity Line, just mail this coupon or visit any Bank of Boston office. It could turn out to be the smartest thing you've done since buying your home.

Tell me more about the smartest way to borrow. Send me an Equity Line application.

Awarded Travel-Study Trip

Robert A. Yelle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Yelle of Andover, has recently been awarded a four-week, all-expense-paid study-trip to the Federal Republic of Germany.

Yelle was one of more than 16,000 students who competed for the study-trip by participating in a nationwide German testing program administered by the American Association of Teachers of German. Seventy-two students were eventually selected to receive the prize. The study-trip awards have been made possible annually for more than a decade by a grant from the Federal Republic of Germany through its Embassy in Washington, D.C.

The trip winners will leave for Germany from New York City on June 26 with return scheduled for July 25. They will live with families in the Nuremberg area, attend classes at a German secondary school and take part in excursions of cultural and historic interest. A highlight of the program will be a four-day trip to West Berlin with tours of both East and West Berlin scheduled.

Yelle is a student at Phillips Academy in Andover where his German teachers have been John Chivers, Joseph Wennik and Katia Amsler.

Historians Honor Collins

Andover's own J. Everett Collins will be the subject of the Andover Historical Society's morning coffee program on Tuesday, June 5, at 9:30 a.m. at 97 Main St. The public is invited to this free event.

J. Everett Collins, who recently celebrated his 90th birthday, has enriched life in Andover for many decades. Highlights of his life and his many contributions to the community will be featured in an exciting multi-media presentation originally produced for the 1983 dedication of the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts.

A 1913 graduate of Punchard High School and a World War I veteran, Collins is best-known in Andover for his association with music. In 1926 he organized the Andover Male Choir and has been active for many years with the Andover Choral Society. He observed the 50th anniversary of conducting Handel's "Messiah" with the Choral Society in 1979.

The program shows aspects of Collins' life from his earliest days through the present. It is a tribute to a much-loved member of the community and offers glimpses of Andover life throughout the 20th century.

The Andover Historical Society is a non-profit, educational institution open to both members and public. For information on open hours, exhibitions, tours, special events and membership, call the society office, open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday-Friday.

To Chart Education Strategy

Educators responsible for developing Massachusetts' most effective school programs will meet in Andover on May 31 with top officials from the Massachusetts department of education, including Dr. John H. Lawson, commissioner of education, to chart an education improvement strategy for schools in the state.

The 15 programs represented have all been officially certified by the U.S. Department of Education as "Programs That Work," including the Andover AIRS and QUILL projects. Each program has been designed by school people, tested in classrooms and proved itself effective. The programs cover a range of curriculum areas, from technology to critical thinking, special education, physical education, reading and occupational education, and all are available for use by other school districts.

The NETWORK, Inc., the designated agency in Massachusetts that helps local school districts find and "adopt" exemplary programs, is hosting the meeting so that key personnel from these projects can share ideas and discuss with state officials how to best use their model programs to promote excellence in Commonwealth schools.

Other participants include Dr. James Case, associate commissioner for curriculum and instruction, Ellen Glanz, a member of Governor Dukakis' Office for Educational Affairs, and state legislators responsible for educational policy, including representatives of the Legislature's Joint Education Committee. Rep. Susan Tucker (D-Andover), who serves on the Joint Education Committee, will also participate.

Coins were first issued in the eighth century B.C.

CONSUMER RIGHTS

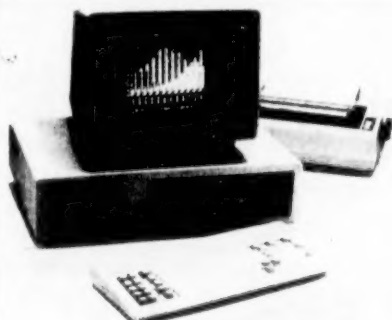

The Massachusetts Consumer Protection Act is an effective law that provides consumers with extensive protections against unfair and deceptive practices. Regulations have been enacted by the Attorney General that govern the advertising, sale and repair of automobiles, appliances and home improvements, as well as most other consumer purchases. Other regulations govern debt collection practices and landlord/tenant relations.

An attorney familiar with these regulations can assist in determining whether you have a consumer protection claim. Contact John S. Wessler.

Cub Scouts Get Awards

Five Pack 77 Cub Scouts received the highest award given to the 10-year-olds' division in the Boy Scout organization.

Mark Chantland, Jeremy Kahan, A.J. Rimas, Gregory Santosuosso and Adam Tenofsky were awarded the "arrow of light" after they completed a series of activities, the last of which was a two-hour hike on Saturday at the Charles Ward Reservation.

The boys also had to earn activity badges, learn emergency first aid and memorize Webelo codes in order to win the award. All five scouts will be moving up to Andover Boy Scout Troop 77 next year.

International Days Observed

Sumitra Malpani deep frying purees, Indian pocket bread during International Days at West Parish Nursery School, with students, Derek Therriault, Jennifer Peck, Gwen Schmuhl and Sarah Walker participating in the preparation.

West Parish Nursery School recently celebrated International Days. The countries studied included China, Japan, India, Sweden, Finland, Norway, Mexico and South America. Customs, cultures and foods of these countries were included as part of the curriculum during these four weeks.

One highlight of these International Days was a visit by Sumitra Malpani, mother of nursery school student Sonal Malpani, who prepared Indian foods with the children. The results were sampled and enjoyed by all. The food included julab jam, a dessert resembling a donut hole marinated in sugar water and cardamon sauce; burfee, a dessert of ricotta cheese and coconut; siva, Indian noodles; and purees, Indian deep fried pocket bread.

West Parish Nursery School is a non-denominational, semi-cooperative nursery school housed at West Parish Church, Reservation Road. Students attend school Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. There are three staff members for a maximum of 23 students. Students enrolling for the fall must be four years old by September 1. For further information about visiting the school or registering a student, contact Sandra Schmuhl, chairperson, Bellevue Road, Andover.

Choir School To Appear In Concert

The Methuen Memorial Music Hall will begin its 1984 season on Wednesday, June 6, with a concert by the Boston Archdiocesan Choir School and the Saint Paul Men's Schola, Theodore Marier, director, and John Dunn, organist. They will be assisted by the BACS Handbell Choir, Mark Nemeskal, director.

The program will include "Blessed be the God and Father" by Samuel Sebastian Wesley; "In Nomine Jesu" by Jacob Handl; "Magnificat" and "Nunc Dimittis" by Herbert Howells; "Quatre Motets" by Maurice Durufle; "I Was Glad When They Said Unto Me" by Sir Charles H.H. Parry; "Praise the Lord with Harp and Tongue" by George Frideric Handel; "Crux Fidelis" by Jean-Jules Aimable Rober-Ducasse; "Let All the People Praise Thee" by William Mathias by the choir; "Prelude and Fugue in D Major" by Johann Sebastian Bach on the organ; "Choral Song" by Samuel Sebastian Wesley; "Pavane" by Gabriel Faure; "Psalm 96" by Mary McLeary by the handbell choir.

The Boston Archdiocesan Choir School, formerly known as the Saint Paul Choir School, was founded in 1963 under the patronage of the late Cardinal Cushing. The pupils, ranging in age from 10 to 14, receive a full academic training in addition to an extensive musical education. They take part regularly in the services of St. Paul Church in Harvard Square, Cambridge. The choir has toured the United States, Italy, France, England and Ireland. They have performed with the Boston Symphony Orchestra and have made numerous recordings.

Wins Award In Magazine Competition

Wendy Darling of Andover received honorable mention in the "Cricket League" international poetry competition sponsored by CRICKET magazine. Entrants were asked to write a poem about something they like to do more than anything else for this month's competition. Wendy's name appears in the June 1984 issue of the magazine.

The monthly writing and drawing competition is open to all CRICKET readers in two age brackets: 5-9 and 10-13 years of age. Each monthly contest is unique with specific guidelines given in the "Cricket League" pages. Award winners are reported three issues later.

Cricket, the Magazine for Children is published in Open Court Publishing Company, La Salle, Ill. Marianne Carus is editor-in-chief. Cricket magazine began publication in September 1973 and has a world-wide circulation of approximately 140,000.

Choirs To Present Concert

This Sunday, June 3, at 4 p.m. in the parish hall, the Schola Cantorum and Parish Choir of Christ Church, Central Street, will present a concert of sacred choral literature taken from their 1983-84 repertoire.

The two choirs, under the direction of Earl L. Miller, parish music director, sing an extensive program of services throughout the year and have a broad spectrum of literature.

Beginning with an ancient Gregorian chant Kyrie sung in organum, the choirs will perform works by Renaissance German composers Michael Praetorius and Melchior Vulpius, three arrangements of southern American hymnology, an adaptation of a French Noel and works from the English choral tradition.

Two major works will be included: Henry Purcell's "O God, Thou Art My God" and Felix Mendelssohn's "Hear My Prayer" with the beautiful solo, "O For the Wings of A Dove." The choir will also sing Mendelssohn's "He Watching Over Israel" from Elijah.

An interesting feature of the Christ Church choir is that the soloists are drawn from both the adult and children's sections of the organization. In the parish choir, boys and girls make up the principal part of the soprano section and many of them are joined by one or more of their parents in the alto, tenor and bass sections.

The concert is free and open to the public.

Navy Veteran, 85, Upholds Oath And Gets A Boot Out Of Living

By Sue Aucella Deacon

He was 18 years old when he enlisted in the United States Navy. It was 1918. Europe was engulfed in the Great War, and "I wanted to do my bit." Besides, he adds with a little smile, the draft age had just been lowered: "I would've been drafted anyway."

Apprentice Seaman Harold Livingston, an Andover boy, asked to be sent overseas. The old Skipper says, "When they want you, they'll send for you," he remembers, mimicking the old Skipper's growl.

His time never came. But he was only one of 500 Andover boys who served in the World War. Many of them did sail away to the war, and many of them never came home.

Harold Livingston honors them by remembering them all, his childhood friends — especially on Memorial Day. One of a handful of surviving World War I veterans in Andover and a member of the American Legion, he takes part in the town's Memorial Day observances every spring.

"I might be living in the past," Mr. Livingston says, "but I think we're apt to forget the old fellows. When a man holds up his hand and takes that oath, we're all the same. There's no difference."

He is, at 84, a warm and delightful man who laughs a lot. His memories are colorful, but there's little evidence that he does, in fact, live in the past. "I get a boot out of living," he says, and that is easy to believe.

Mr. Livingston lives on Abbot Street, where he's been since 1921, and where he operated his own business as a florist for many years. He cautions that an account of his life should be "nothing flowery. I'm nothing but a darned old farmer — have been all my life, and want to be until I die."

He was born and spent his earliest years in Hillsboro, N.H., the birthplace of President Franklin Pierce ("a Hillsboro man").

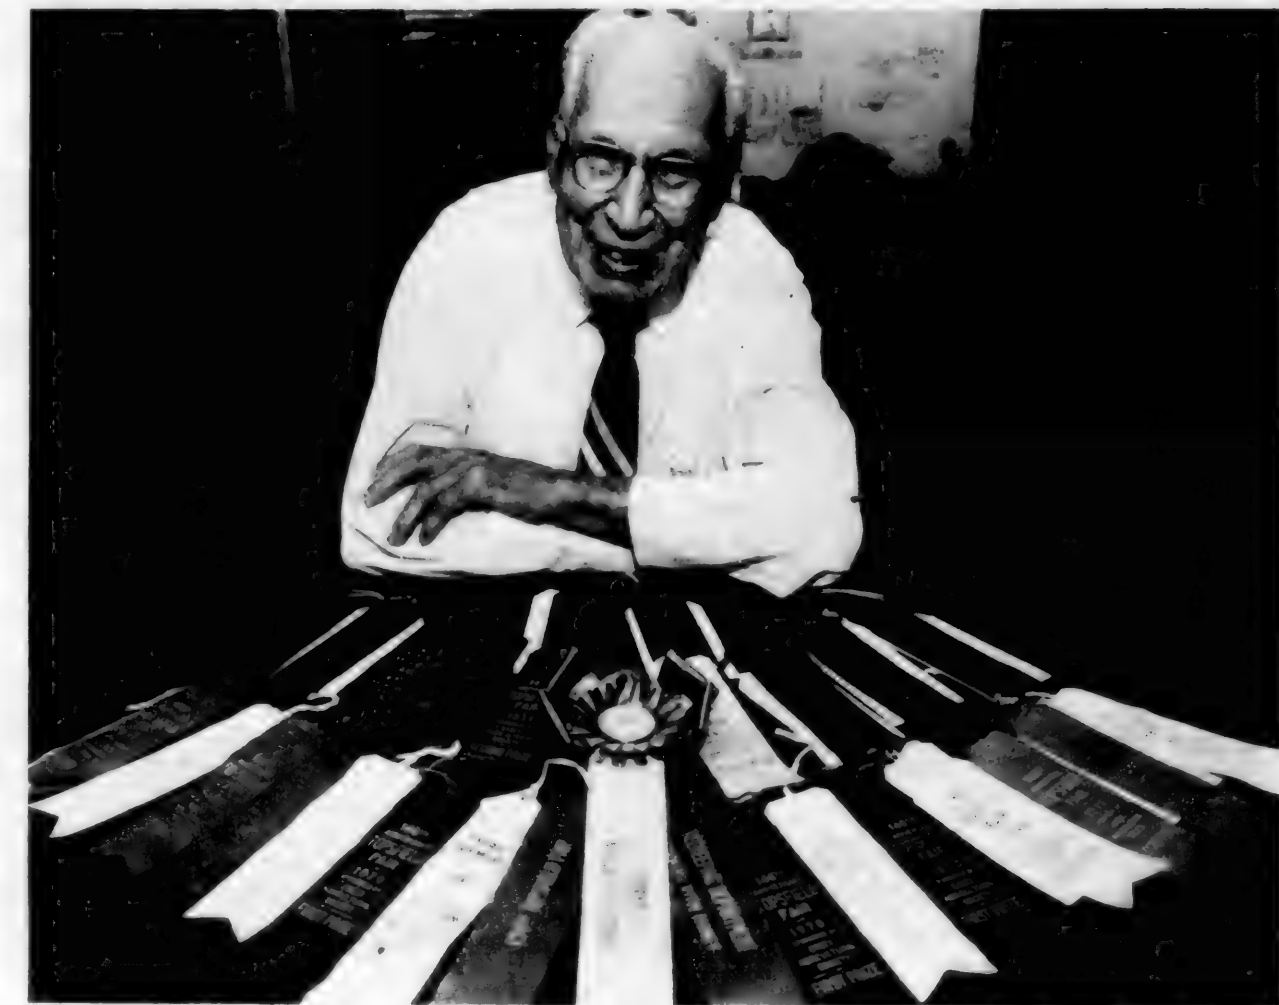

He remembers an old stone oven, built into the ground, where an ox was once roasted to celebrate the inauguration of President Pierce. "The boys used to crawl in there and smoke," he says. "I didn't — I'm a teetotaler and not a smoker."

And Harold well remembers the Memorial Day exercises of his boyhood, when veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic — Civil War veterans — "all turned out" to march single file down the streets of Hillsboro, each man bearing an evergreen wreath. At the end of their march, the men placed the wreaths on a monument behind the Livingstons' home.

Harold's father, an engineer, moved his family of seven children to Andover in 1913, because he believed Hillsboro's country setting was "no place for kids." Harold says, "My father thought we'd be better off down here." The family settled on Temple Place, and Harold, age 13, went to the Indian Ridge School "until they couldn't get a seat big enough for me."

He went on to graduate from the Stowe School in 1915, and "that's as far as I got in school. I'm not an educated man." But Mr. Livingston did go on to night school, studying woolen and worsted manufacturing in Lawrence and Lowell textile schools.

During the day, he worked at the Marland Mills. "It was eight dollars a week, 54 hours a week. Outside of that, it was a picnic," he says dryly. "I started out carrying filling and ended up as a loom fixer."

The World War drew Harold away from the mill in 1918, along with his older brother, Clinton, who was 20. On the advice of their father, they enlisted in the Navy. Clinton (now deceased) was made an electrician and sent overseas; he returned home safely.

But Harold stayed close to home. He was promoted from apprentice seaman to third class cook, and served at Bumpkin Island in Boston Harbor, then Hingham, then a Boston section base. When his stint was up in June 1919, he enlisted in the Navy Reserve until, in September 1921, Congress declined to appropriate further funding for the reserves. He was discharged.

Mr. Livingston was still in the service when he joined the American Legion in 1920. "I was interested in the veterans because I knew the boys, the casualties," he explains. "I knew them all." He marched in his first Memorial Day parade as a bugler in the Legion's drum corps. At that time, Legion members met in a hall above a Main Street store.

As soon as he completed his active duty in the Navy, Harold returned to the mill — but he didn't stay there long. "Maybe I got cocky," he speculates. "The place just wasn't the same as it was when I left."

He moved on to the Katama Mill in Lawrence, Davis and Furber in North Andover, the Stevens mill in North Andover, where he worked in the patent room. "I was trying to get ahead, you see."

Marriage took him and his late wife to Maple Avenue for a while, then to Abbot Street, where he built his house on the site of a cow pasture. "This house is one of the few that's been built of all pine for a long while," he says, describing a terrible ice storm that hit the town in 1921.

The enterprising newlywed asked the trustees of Indian Ridge if he might haul off some of the great branches that, weighted down with ice, had been stripped from the pine trees and were lying on the ground. With that lumber, and the help of his father, brother, and friends, Harold erected the frame for his house. "so I can vouch for it being a pine frame house."

After Harold dug his cellar ("that's work," carpenter George Henderson finished the house, working from plans Harold had sketched. "There's no architect about this," he jokes.

He left the mills in '23 or '24 for a town job, working in Spring Grove Cemetery. He did "general work," including gravedigging. "That didn't bother me any. I know what's down and what's up."

Harold bought his first car in 1928: a second-hand affair, "one of those old beach wagons," acquired from Gavin McGee for the sum of five dollars.

Somehow, during his time at Spring Grove, he learned the florist's trade, and gradually "just grew into" his own business. His start goes way back to when George Miller was in the flower business," he notes.

I got Peter D. Smith's old greenhouse — that was opposite the high school — moved it down here and reconstructed it." As his business grew, he built a new greenhouse. "I was successful," he says simply. "I had a good business."

The greenhouses are gone now, torn down. Mr. Livingston retired from his business in 1962, but that doesn't mean I didn't do anything at all. I raised a few tomatoes and sold them, three pounds for fifty cents.

The sizeable garden that he tends on his lot, a "general kitchen garden," keeps him busy these days — that, and cooking for his daughter and son-in-law, who live with him. Another married daughter lives in New Jersey. When they get home at night, supper's on the table.

He's been interested in cooking since his Navy days, and proudly displays a kitchen cabinet crammed from end to end with cookbooks and recipes. Harold calls himself a "general cook" who makes anything and everything, thanks to his Navy training.

There was no fancy stuff in those days," he explains. Once, he recalls, he was inspired to make strawberry shortcake as a splurge for the boys on a prison boat traveling to Bumpkin Island — but the old

Skipper rammed into a pier, and the shortcakes collapsed into an unappealing heap. "But they ate them anyway," he says, laughing.

A one-time beekeeper ("that was a spare-time affair"), he's belonged to the Essex County Beekeeping Association for more than 20 years, and has earned a tall stack of ribbons from the Topsfield Fair over the years for his beekeeping and cooking with honey. He's been honored with life membership in the association.

Newly-enlisted in the Navy, Harold Livingston at 18 (right) and his late brother, Clinton, at 20.

Harold is an accomplished woodworker as well: many of his pieces decorate his home, including at least two hand-hewn tables. He has also found the time, over the years, to be an active member of the Baptist church in Andover, and a Mason (since 1920) who belongs to St. Matthew's Lodge.

He has, of course, seen "tremendous change" in Andover, "like everything else." He remembers the days, decades before the era of DPW plows, when horse-drawn snow rollers made the streets passable after a snow storm. He remembers when a water trough stood outside Memorial Hall Library. And he remembers when a 1938 hurricane left the town without electricity for three weeks. "Huge elms were felled along Abbot Street," he says, "but luckily his greenhouses were spared."

Looking back, Harold Livingston is not sorry that his father brought him down from Hillsboro 71 years ago. "Andover's been good to me," he says. "I'm not kicking. I'm not kicking a bit."

Reason often makes mistakes, but conscience never does.

Gifted Program Work Exhibit At School

The annual exhibit of the Gifted and Talented Program of the Andover Public Schools will be held Wednesday, June 6, in the cafeteria of West Elementary School from 7 p.m. to 8:15 p.m.

Parents, teachers and friends are invited to view the many varied and exciting projects done by fourth, fifth and sixth graders enrolled in the following programs: Frontiers of Science, World of Water, Creativity, Archaeology, Leadership, Computers and Social Studies. All of the students were selected according to specific criteria to participate in these year-long, pull-out programs. Andover teachers who served as program leaders were Doug Buchanan, Charles Friel, Fran McCormick, Gene Rapisardi, Helen Caplan, Charlotte Lynch and Holly Plamondon.

Janis Baron, program director, announces that these projects will be on display at the Andover Bank lobby, Main Street, Andover, beginning Friday, June 8.

Summer Courses Offered

Area youngsters may sign up for North Andover's summer school and summer day camp program both of which will begin on Monday, July 9.

The summer school classes are for students in kindergarten through grade eight. Courses offered are both academic and non-academic. Most classes meet from 8 to 10 a.m., or from 10 to 12 noon, at the North Andover Middle School, Main Street.

The summer camp program is for youngsters in kindergarten through grade five, and runs from Monday, July 9 through Friday, Aug. 17, from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Preference for class enrollment will be given to North Andover residents but non-residents may also sign up for courses and will be admitted as enrollment allows. For course and cost information contact program director Michelle Fitzpatrick, at the Kittredge School, North Andover.

Western Roundup

By Vicki Anderson

The annual West Junior High Open House was held on May 24. A smorgasbord supper was served in the Sweeney Court-yard at 5 p.m., a debate was held in the media center and seventh graders gave a computer demonstration.

Between 5 p.m. and 9 p.m. exhibits were shown of students classroom projects and visitors were able to get an idea of what was covered during the school year. A Twilight Chamber Concert was held in the auditorium at 6:30 p.m. Performing were the seventh and eighth grade girls glee clubs, Kurt Nickerson, West Junior High String Ensemble, Eugene Park, Susan Wood and the All-Town Orchestra.

The theme for the 8 p.m. performance was "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow." Performing as part of Yesterday were the Rockin' Romans, led by Douglas Halsted, and Michael Byrne, the West Junior High Band, Steve Trussell, Tracy Janczak, Karen Soucy, The Barbershop Boys, ninth grade acting workshop, Robert Devaney, Chris Kew, Rob Norris, David Sharrow, Matt Zippeto, Nadine Lewandowski, Michelle Nagy and the West Side Singers. Performing as part of Today were Shorey Walker, the West Junior High band, Brett Yannalfo, Shelby Chapper, Jennifer, and eighth grade music class, Christine Basil, Karen Bates, Christine Craig, the ninth grade girls glee club, Henning Ohlenbusch, David Sharrow, Steve Willard and Gavin Foster. Performing as part of Tomorrow were Sarah Perry, eighth grade music class and the Robotettes.

Olde English Orange Twists

Chivers Marmalade is more than a spread. It's the rich, dark, delicious secret to gourmet foods like this

1 pkg. (8 oz.) refrigerated, pre-soft dinner rolls
1/2 cup Chivers Olde English Marmalade

Preheat oven to 375°. Unroll dough, separate into triangles. Spread each with 1/2 tablespoon marmalade. Roll as directed on package. Bake 15 minutes on baking sheet. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Serve warm. Makes 8 coffee rolls.

Peer Pressure And Alcohol

By Sandra Kent

How do you say NO to drinking? What do you do if you are the only non-drinker at a party and friends urge you to have a drink?

The factors that shape a young person's decision about drinking are many and varied. The way alcohol is assimilated into family functions and gatherings is a powerful influence. So is the way friends at school regard and use alcohol as there is a consistent relationship between drinking behaviors of teens and their peer groups. Social pressures, whether they originate in the home, school, free time activities or in the media are powerful sources of persuasion.

The reasons people drink are many and varied and teens are no exceptions. Statistics are showing that people who feel good about themselves usually do not abuse alcohol and other drugs. Shy teenagers may find their inhibitions lessen after a drink and may feel more at ease with themselves and more confident to function in a crowd. However, many can see no great future in using drink to ease the pressures and frictions at home and school.

Alcohol education is a giant step toward prevention of problems. Young people need to develop the means to clarify their values and what they want out of life. It is important to feel that it is OK to say NO to drinking and that you don't have to give excuses or explanations; just a casual, but firm, no. This involves believing in yourself and trusting your own reasons.

What happens if your date gets bombed at a party and has the keys to the car?

Do you do anything about a friend who is drinking too much and is out of control?

There are no easy answers to problems concerning alcohol because each situation varies and every person is unique in many ways. It is a big help for inexperienced teens to discuss drinking with parents and friends. They can try to work out specific guidelines to follow and be aware of options open to them. We live in a drug-taking society that has problems with alcohol and parents need to realize that it is everyone's problem no matter what their personal views and attitudes are. If we talk openly about drinking and responsibilities we can take much of the mystery and intrigue out of alcohol.

However, when it comes to discussing young people and alcohol, even the researchers and educators have a confusing variety of suggestions. Two points that they would all agree on are that uncontrolled drinking is dangerous and drinking and driving is dangerous. It is important to know the facts and the affects of alcohol so that responsible decisions and choices can be made. There are many sources in the community where parents and teens can get materials and help about alcohol use and problems. The Andover ASK booklet is an excellent resource for people looking for help and can be found at Memorial Hall Library, the Town Offices and schools.

Kristen James

In Program For Young Artists

Kristen James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert James, 13 Standish Circle, Andover, has been accepted as a student in the Tanglewood Institute Young Artists Vocal Program sponsored by Boston University in Lenox this summer. The program is designed to build musicianship in outstanding high school vocalists and choral singers. Each student will sing in the chorus and in a small chamber ensemble that specializes in madrigals and part songs.

Directed by Leonard Atherton, master classes in vocal coaching by Allen Rogers, and class voice instruction will be conducted by Robert Gartside and members of the Boston University voice faculty. Performance opportunities are numerous and varied, including the performance of major works with the Young Artists Orchestra on the Tanglewood grounds as well as chamber concerts at Tanglewood and for local civic organizations.

Kristen has performed locally as a member of Andover High School Madrigals, Andover Music and Drama Guild in "Sound of Music" and "Music Man," Andover High School Marching and Concert Bands, Jazz Band, Andover Choral Society's "Messiah," Andover Community Theatre in "West Side Story," Emerson College Youth Theatre in "Godspell" and "The Wiz" and is rehearsing with The Treble Chorus of New England for the opera, "Icarus," to be performed at Kresge Auditorium at MIT.

Kristen is a piano student of John Allen of Andover and a voice student of Mrs. Marie Stultz of North Reading.

During the days of the American Revolution, 13 was considered a lucky number, as that was the number of colonies fighting the British.

Elected Secretary Of Class

Betsy Leavitt

Betsy Leavitt, a graduating senior at Phillips Academy, will be class secretary for the Class of 1984 as they head out into the world of college and work. Betsy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leavitt, Andover Street, North Andover, was elected by her 409 classmates. Her responsibility will be to keep track of their activities as they write to her, write a class news column three times a year for Andover's alumni magazine and head the planning for class reunions every five years.

Betsy is the one elected 1984 class officer, as this large class moves on to greater achievement," said Joseph C. Mesics, secretary of the academy. "She will be working closely with my office and I am confident that she will discharge her responsibilities well."

Creativity is not the finding of a thing but the making something out of it after it is found.

Conference On Novelist At College

"Willa Cather, The Northeast Perspective" is the title of a week-long conference on American novelist Willa Cather on the Merrimack College campus in North Andover June 17-23.

One of America's most written about novelists, Cather has been the subject of several controversial biographical works and probing critical analyses. Now, after two recent University of Nebraska national conferences in the prairie setting, Merrimack will offer Cather scholars and enthusiasts the opportunity to consider Cather within the context of her years in the east as a professional—editor of McClure's and Pulitzer Prize-winning novelist.

During the week-long conference, participants will hear lectures by prominent Cather scholars, discuss a variety of Cather works and visit places in New England associated with Cather. Conference activities include tours to Boston, the Sarah Orne Jewett House in South Berwick, Maine, and Jaffrey Center, N. H., where Cather summered, did much of her writing and is buried.

For information on registration, conference and accommodation fees, contact Kevin Synnott at the division of continuing education, Merrimack College.

Willa Cather

Receives Scholarship

Carolyn J. Higgins, 21 Brechin Terrace, was named to the Dean's List with High Honors for the winter quarter at Northeastern University where she is in the third year of the five-year cooperative education program in the College of Nursing.

Higgins is also the recipient of a two-year U.S. Army ROTC Nurse Corps scholarship, awarded on the basis of scholaristic achievement at Northeastern University and performance at Army ROTC Basic Training camp. The scholarship covers full tuition, textbooks, laboratory fees, uniforms and graduation fees and pays a monthly subsistence allowance.

Upon graduation, Cadet Higgins will be a Second Lieutenant in the Army Nurse Corps.

Lt. Edmonds Graduates

Marine 2nd Lt. Thomas H. Edmonds, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Edmonds, 14 Hidden field, Andover, graduated from The Basic School.

The Basic School is located at the Marine Corps Development and Education Command in Quantico, Va. It is designed to prepare newly commissioned officers for assignment to the Fleet Marine Force and emphasizes the duties and responsibilities of a rifle platoon commander.

toon commander

The training included instruction on land navigation, marksmanship, tactics, military law, personnel administration, Marine Corps history and traditions, communications and the techniques of military instruction. During the 26-week course, leadership by example and teamwork were stressed and the students participated in a demanding physical conditioning program.

John D. Bernhard

Three Andover residents, who graduated from Andover High School in 1980, were among the more than 2,000 graduates receiving degrees at the 109th commencement exercises at Boston College, in Chestnut Hill, on Monday, May 21.

John D. Bernhard, Mercury Circle, was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in mathematics with honors. Bernhard was treasurer of Pi Mu Epsilon, a national mathematics fraternity and vice-president of the Math Society of Boston College. He was also treasurer of El Club de Espanol, the school's Spanish group. Bernhard was a stockbroker's assistant intern at Dean Whittier Reynolds. He plans to enter Indiana University's masters in business administration program.

William I. Hart, 203 High St., received a bachelor of arts degree in liberal arts from Boston College. He also has an associate of arts degree from Valley Forge Military Academy, where he was commissioned a lieutenant in the United States Army. He was awarded a ROTC scholarship.

Christopher J. Sartory, 9 Eastman Road, received his bachelor of science in biology from the Chestnut Hill school. Sartory plans to enter a United States Naval Air program.

Graduation speaker at the ceremony was the Most Rev. Bernard F. Law, Archbishop of Boston, who received an honorary degree from Boston College President Rev. J. Daniel Monahan.

Bowdoin

Howard Ames Coon, III, 624 Salem St., North Andover, was awarded a bachelor of Arts degree Saturday at Bowdoin College's 179th Commencement Exercises.

President A. LeRoy Greason presented the diploma.

A graduate of Brooks School, Coon majored in economics and has been a dean's list student.

He earned two varsity letters and two sets of varsity numerals as a member of the football team.

Worcester

Two Andover men were among the 573 students awarded degrees at the Saturday, May 19, graduation at Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Worcester.

Mark Edward Souter, 49 Wild Rose Drive, received a degree in mechanical engineering; and Joseph Eugene Veilleux, 131 Haggetts Pond Road, received a degree, with distinction, in mechanical engineering.

North Andover residents Kevin R. Fontaine, 58 May St., and Bruce D. Kingsley, 43 Lisa Lane, both received degrees in mechanical engineering.

Degree Program

Andover-area managers or supervisors seeking a work-related college degree program may want to consider Lesley College's Programs in Management for Business and Industry (PMBI).

PMBI is an accelerated, intensive study degree program designed for adults who are employed in business and industry or a similar organizational setting.

An information meeting on PMBI is scheduled for Wednesday,

June 13, at the Nevins Library, 305 Broadway, Methuen for 6 p.m.

Clark

Christian G.M. Heiter, 26 Kathleen Drive, was one of 630 students receiving degrees at the Clark University commencement on Sunday, May 20, at the Worcester school.

Science fiction author Isaac Asimov addressed the students at the outdoor ceremony.

The invention of the first mechanical clock has been attributed to P'eng and Tsang of China, circa 725 A.D.

Holy Cross

Suzanne M. Russell, 3 Elysian Drive, Andover, received a bachelor of arts degree from Holy Cross College at its 138th commencement on May 25.

Russell, who majored in Mathematics, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Russell and a graduate of Andover High School.

She was secretary of the Committee for Campus Ministry for the past three years. In addition, Russell was a member of the college choir, assuming the role of senior advisor this past year.

Drawing Flowers

A three-session course, Drawing Wild Flowers, will be offered by the Peabody Museum of Salem on Wednesdays, June 6, 13 and 20, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. Anna Vojtech, whose delicate works line the walls of the museum's Mifflin Gallery in her one-man exhibition "Four Seasons of New England Wildflowers," has structured her course so that students learn to identify plants while experimenting with drawing techniques.

On June 6 participants will tour the Vojtech exhibit and discuss methods of botanical illustration—such as line drawing or watercolor. The June 13 class will meet at the Ipswich River Sanctuary where they will identify and draw the specimens they discover there. The course will conclude June 20 at the Whipple House in Ipswich where the 17th century garden offers a wide variety of wildflowers and herbs to study and sketch.

Course participants are asked to provide their own drawing materials. To pre-register, call the museum.

Paula Ruth Caplan was one of 600 students who graduated from Brandeis University, in Waltham, at graduation exercises held on Sunday, May 20.

Caplan, who lives at 134 Lowell St., received her degree in psychology, which she intends to study in graduate school. While a student Caplan was a member of the varsity softball team. She spent her junior year at Tel Aviv University, in Israel. She also volunteered at the Parental Stress Line, Boston, and was a research assistant at the Harvard School. Caplan was a dean's list student in her senior year.

Instructors Needed

The Andover Department of Community Services is planning its Fall program booklet and is accepting applications from local residents who would like to share their skills and abilities.

How does a person get involved teaching for the DCS department? It is important that the prospective instructor has extensive background and knowledge in the subject matter to be taught.

A formal teaching background is far less significant than an enthusiasm and excitement about the subject-skill being taught. An effective instructing manner, combined with an exciting topic and an eager-to-learn group of students, can result in a rewarding learning as well as leisure time experience.

Applicants skilled in academic enrichment or recreational activities or wishing to suggest new Fall programs, workshops or special events should stop by the DCS office in the Town Offices on Bartlett Street or call the department between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

DENNIS FELD LOST 38½ POUNDS

At...The Haverhill DIET CENTER

"I THOUGHT I COULD DO IT MYSELF ..."

So I tried and I tried, and I failed and I failed. I kept rationalizing ... "My weight problem isn't that bad — I'll start my diet tomorrow."

BEFORE

I got tired of failing and bored with "starting tomorrow" — so on the advice of a friend, I called Diet Center! NOW I KNOW WHY I COULDN'T DO IT MYSELF! I Needed the help, the support, and the daily encouragement of my DIET CENTER counselors. The private counseling and daily weight loss gave me the incentive to finally do it. And the DIET CENTER program — healthy well-balanced food and back-to-basics philosophy — taught me the importance of proper nutrition. And my counselors were terrific! Not only did I lose 38½ pounds in 10 weeks, but I am learning to keep it off with DIET CENTER'S continuing stabilization and maintenance programs. And I feel 100% better! If you value your health, and want to lose weight, call DIET CENTER. The counselors really care. I AM A DIET CENTER CONVERT FOR LIFE!

Regan-Pardee

Martha Harmon Pardee, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ward Pardee III of Wilmington, Delaware, was married to Timothy Charles Regan, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Joseph Regan of Holt Road, Andover, on Saturday, May 26, at Trinity Episcopal Church in Wilmington, Delaware.

Robert M. Smith of Trinity Episcopal Church officiated at the five o'clock ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Brenda Lawlor of Brighton was maid of honor, and William J. Regan of Long Island City, N.Y., brother of the groom, was best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride is a graduate of Wilmington Friends School and Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., and has attended Skidmore College as well. She will teach at Phillips Academy during the upcoming summer session.

Her husband is a graduate of Phillips Academy and Northwestern University. He will teach at the academy during the summer session.

Following a wedding trip to Jamaica, the couple will live in Andover.

Camp Y-Wood Registering For Season

Camp Y-Wood, the girls' day camp of the Greater Lawrence YWCA, will begin its first summer session on June 25. Four two-week sessions are planned for girls 6-13 years of age. Bus stops will pick up Andover girls at various stops throughout the town for the trip to Captain's Pond, Salem, N.H.

The camp will be directed by Evelyn Bistelle, 64 Reservation Road who has been running the camp since it started 26 years ago. Her interest in nature and outdoor education is reflected in the camp farm animals, mountain trips, overnights, outdoor cookery projects that enliven the camp program. A full Red Cross swimming and boating program is offered to every girl by the YWCA trained waterfront staff. Brenda Craig, an Andover High School graduate, will work as music and sports counselor. She has been with the camp as a camper, counselor-in-training and junior staffer for several years.

Confirmation At Temple

Shavuot is the third of the agriculturally based festivals of the Jewish year. Following seven weeks after Pesach, this harvest festival serves again to remind the Jewish people of the closeness of their ancestors to the soil and their dependence on nature for their livelihood. Shavuot, Pesach and Succot are characterized "pilgrim festivals," for on these days Jews from all sections of Palestine brought thanksgiving offerings of their harvests to the temple in Jerusalem.

Shavuot, once having represented only the natural world, later gained a spiritual dimension: the anniversary of the giving of the Torah on Mount Sinai. It is largely the spiritual and cultural aspect of Shavuot that has imparted to the holiday its present significance.

Early 19th century Reform Jewish leaders, seeking to give women equal status in all religious obligations, created the ceremony of Confirmation for boys and girls to involve them in Jewish life. The Confirmation ceremony was ideally to be celebrated on the Festival of Shavuot, commemorating the Revelation on Mt. Sinai. Each Shavuot Festival allows for the renewal of the covenant first entered into at Sinai.

Confirmation exercises will be held at Temple Emanuel in Andover on Tuesday, June 5, at 8 p.m. The following 10th grade students will be confirmed at this religious service:

Lee Hayman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayman
Bonnie Hodes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hodes

Michele Karas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Karas
Joel Klaiman, son of Cantor and Mrs. Norman Brody
Ronnie Kovner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Kovner
Nicole Krauson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Krauson
Adam Labell, son of Atty. and Mrs. Joel Labell
Stuart Leinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Leinson
Eric Shenker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shenker
Julie Swartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Swartz
Bonnie Taylor, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Taylor.

As part of the exercises these young people will participate in the Festival Services and will present a special program, written by the students, on the theme of the Ten Commandments.

Following the service and presentation, there will be a collation tended in honor of the class by the parents of the Confirmands. The Festival Service is a public worship service and open to the community.

Donald Sherman, president of Temple Emanuel, announces that the concluding day of the Shavuot Festival, following Liberal traditions, will be held Wednesday, June 6, at 10:30 a.m. in the temple sanctuary conducted by Rabbi Harry A. Roth and assisted by Cantor Norman Brody. Special Yizkor Memorial Prayers will be recited at the evening service on Tuesday, June 5, at 8 p.m. and on Wednesday morning, June 6, at 10:30 a.m.

Baccalaureate Service
Is Sunday

The Fifth Annual Senior Baccalaureate Service will be held at 7 p.m. on Sunday, June 3, at St. Augustine's Church on Essex Street. The theme of this year's service is "One Bridge to Cross, One Bridge We've Crossed."

Senior class members have been meeting with Rev. David Melvin of South Church and Sheila Doherty of St. Augustines since January to plan the service. Rep. Susan Tucker, Mrs. William Scanlon and Robert King will be among the speakers the students have asked to participate in the service.

Students involved in planning the service include Dawn Vikman, Henning Roettger, Maura King, Jim McAllister, Angela Thompson, Biffy Marciano, Sharon French, Becky Patrakis and Sharlene Galvin.

Sale

Articles are needed for a White Elephant Sale at the John T. Berry Fun Day activities on June 9. The third annual Berry Fun Day will feature a hot air balloon demonstration, kite flying festival, entertainment, refreshments and sale items. Berry is the state facility serving the need of more than 90 mentally retarded individuals from northeastern Massachusetts.

Proceeds from the Fun Day will benefit mentally retarded clients of the center. Donations may be brought to the Berry Center, Route 62, North Reading.

To Observe Gift Day At Church

Andover Baptist Church has designated Sunday,
June 3, as Gift Sunday.

Gift Sunday is a tradition dating back to the days of the depression in the early 1930s when the church, like many other organizations, had fallen into debt.

Since then the Gift Sunday service has been an annual June event providing a special time and program for the various organizations of the church (men's and women's groups, Sunday school and youth groups) as well as individual members and friends to contribute over and above weekly ties and offerings for special needs of local church

To Begin Summer Schedule

The Ballard Vale United Church (United Methodist Church, United Church of Christ) begins its summer worship schedule with a celebration of the Eucharist at 9:30 a.m. The Rev. Gary S. Cornell will have "Glorifying God," based on the prayer of Jesus in chapter 17 of the Gospel according to John, as his preaching theme. The choir, under the direction of James Sayers, will have "I Know He Lives" as its offertory anthem.

Members of the senior high fellowship will host a picnic in honor of high school and ninth grade graduates at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McIntyre at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Mary Mackintosh

Mrs. Mary (Osborn) Mackintosh, 63, wife of William Mackintosh of Quouqunet Lane, Little Compton, R.I., died at home of cancer after a long illness, May 24.

Born in Fall River, daughter of the late Richard and the late Eleanor (Shove) Osborn, she had resided in Little Compton for the past 20 years and in Andover for 15 years prior to that. She attended Fall River Grammar Schools, was a graduate of Beaver Country Day School in Chestnut Hill and attended Miss Childs School in Florence, Italy.

Mrs. Mackintosh was active in community affairs having been president of The Garden Club and a member of the Harbor Commission of Little Compton. She was director of The Sakonnet Golf Club, founder of The Little Compton Kindergarten, a member of the United Congregational Church of Little Compton and founder of its Thursday Thrift Shop.

Besides her husband she is survived by two sons, William Mackintosh III and Duncan C. Mackintosh, both of Little Compton; one daughter, Mrs. Thomas A. (Frances O.) Buffum, Jr. of Wellesley; two brothers, James E. Osborn of Greenwich, Conn., and Charles S. Osborn of New York City; five grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Augustine L. Delaney

Augustine L. Delaney of 56 Holt Road, Andover, died May 28 at Lawrence General Hospital. He was 80.

Born in Lawrence, Mr. Delaney was educated at St. Mary Grammar School, St. John's Preparatory School in Danvers and Villanova College, where he earned a degree in civil engineering. He also studied at Fordham University and Case College in Cleveland, Ohio, and earned a degree in professional engineering. He operated a consulting firm in Boston, A.L. Delaney Associates, for many years before he retired in 1972. Earlier, he had worked for the Erie Railroad in New York City and Cleveland; as a consultant to the U.S. Army Engineers in Washington, D.C.; and for the Portland Cement Co. He belonged to the American Association of Civil Engineers, and offered volunteer services to the Red Cross in Andover and Lawrence.

He leaves his wife, Molly (Twomey) Delaney; one son, Lt. Col. Gerald A. Delaney, U.S. Army, of Joppa Town, Md.; one brother, Laurence J. Delaney of Reading; one sister, Elizabeth A. Delaney of North Andover; and two grandsons, Kevin M. and Brian D. Delaney, both of Maryland.

A funeral Mass will be offered at 9:30 Friday morning at St. Augustine's Church, Andover. Burial will be in Spring Grove Cemetery. Friends may call from 2 to 4 and from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday at McAuliffe Funeral Home, 137 Lawrence St., Lawrence.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Poor Clare Monastery, P.O. Box 333, Lowell 01853.

Finding Appreciation For The Struggle For Survival

By Susan Rand

When Vikki Melvin packed for the South Church trip to Peru she didn't bring a hair dryer, thinking she wouldn't be anywhere near an electrical outlet.

Much to her surprise Melvin found relative luxury, for a mere $1 a night, in the Huanuco hotel she and 14 other South Church members stayed in as they traveled south to learn about missionary work the Central Street church financially and spiritually supports.

But Melvin, of Andover, and her colleagues found much more than breathtaking scenery on the eight-day excursion to Peru. An appreciation for the constant struggle to survive in an impoverished third world country has returned with many members of the group. And traveler Kathy Musser, of North Andover, said she now feels a responsibility to learn more about South and Latin America. Musser said the trip has left her with many unanswered questions.

The trip was organized by Babbi Schick, of North Andover, who met with Diana and David Weber last summer while they were in this country. The Webers are bible translators for the Wyckliffe Society, a worldwide missionary group whose goal is to translate the bible into every language that exists. As part of the approximately 300 Wyckliffe missionaries in Peru, there are some 5,000 in total, the Webers have been working with Peru's Quechua Indians.

The South Church pays part of Diana and David Weber's annual living expenses, explained Schick, who along with husband Bart and daughters, Allison and Courtenay, made the trip to Peru.

As an outgrowth of their work to translate the bible, the Webers are also helping the Quechua Indians to see their language in print for the first time. In order to have a bible translated into their language the Quechua citizens first have to learn to read and write their native tongue, which has never been put down on paper.

Barbara Roulston, who went to Peru as part of the South trip with husband Bob, said the Webers found themselves in a "chicken and egg" situation when they learned that the Quechua Indians didn't know how to use their language.

And Schick added that by giving them a language the Webers were also giving the Quechua Indians dignity.

The trip to Peru was to learn about the Webers' work and also to communicate the church's support, explained Schick.

"We wanted to affirm what they are doing," Schick said, "not just see what they are doing." We

Railroad Negotiations Delaying Lowell Junction Office Park Plan

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Plans for a controversial 53-acre Lowell Junction office and research park have been withdrawn from the Planning Board's consideration — but only temporarily. Burlington developer R.J. Kelly Co.'s plans for Corporate Place 93 remain very much alive, the project manager said this week.

Richard Kelly of R.J. Kelly still intends to build up to 500,000 square feet of office space in six or seven buildings on the site, project manager Jim Fuda of Vanasse/Hangen Associates, Boston, told the TOWNSMAN yesterday.

But complex negotiations with the Boston and Maine Railroad — crucial to the development of the site — have delayed Kelly's progress, Fuda explained.

And even though the selectmen last year amended the town's master sewer plan to allow Kelly to sewer the site, project engineers are now considering septic systems as a possible alternative to sewerage development, he added.

The developer first proposed the office park to Andover officials a year ago, but has yet to present the planning board with plans for their approval. Each time Kelly has scheduled a meeting with the planners, the developer has requested an extension to delay his presentation.

This month, staff planner Nancy Jeton told the planners that Kelly had decided to withdraw the plans from the board's consideration, rather than to continue requesting repeated extensions.

The reason for the planning delays, according to Fuda: The "primary access" to the site would be from Ballardvale Street, across Boston and Maine railroad tracks (an active railroad crossing), and Kelly has been trying to resolve a right-of-way question with the B & M.

There is an existing right-of-way across those tracks, the project manager said, but Kelly hopes to relocate that easement to a "more appropriate" area for an entrance to the office park. The developer has been negotiating that point with railroad officials for several months now and, Fuda indicated, those discussions are continuing.

Kelly probably will not return before the planners until he has "something concrete" to show for those negotiations, the manager said.

The only other access to Kelly's site would be provided by a back road, Burt Road, which also includes a railroad crossing; that would be reserved for emergency use only, Fuda said.

Vanasse/Hangen has also begun extensive engineering work to plan underground disposal (septic) systems for the site, now considered a "viable alternative" to serving the site with a connection into town sewer lines.

Town officials agree with the developer that a sewer tie-in would be preferable to septic systems at the Kelly site — where a potential septic failure somewhere in the future could pose a massive problem for office park tenants and the town.

With that in mind, the Board of Selectmen last year voted to amend the town's master plan to include Kelly's site, which originally fell outside the boundaries of the master plan approved by 1980 town meeting.

Kelly agreed to extend and maintain town sewer lines to his site at his company's expense, and build a pumping station to pump sewage from the site into the town's sewer system.

But the selectmen placed a condition on their vote for the flow pumped from the office park into the town sewer system, the developer was to remove an equal amount of inflow and infiltration from the system, to increase its total capacity.

Reducing inflow and infiltration (excess flow that seeps into sewer lines, through loose manhole covers, for instance) would require costly renovations to town sewer lines, Public Works Director Robert McQuade predicted last year.

Vanasse/Hangen engineers recently completed a study that concluded it would not be "economically feasible" to try to reduce inflow and infiltration, McQuade said this week. The DPW director commented that unless the selectmen agree to eliminate their condition, Kelly may have no choice but to install septic systems.

Constructing septic systems at the site would not pose any special problems, Fuda said, explaining that the soil there is conducive to underground disposal systems. And engineers are planning a number of small systems to serve the office park — not one large system — which would reduce the "magnitude" of the septic plans, he added.

In addition to planning board approval, R.J. Kelly still needs further approvals from the Conservation Commission and Board of Health. (Sewer service would require the selectmen's approval of individual sewer connections as well.)

While it is impossible to say when the developer will be ready to return before town officials, Fuda said, "We'll be back before them — if not for approval, at least for information, as a courtesy to let them know where we are. They've been most cooperative and helpful all along."

Kelly's site falls across town lines into Tewksbury and Wilmington, but most of the construction — 300,000 to 350,000 square feet — would be located in Andover, according to Vanasse/Hangen. The Lowell Junction parcel is located off Route 93, near the Gillette plant.

Last May, Ballardvale residents told the selectmen they opposed Corporate Place 93 because it would increase industrial traffic and reduce the "quality of life" in their neighborhoods. Vale residents urged the selectmen to reconsider their vote to amend the master sewer plan to include Kelly's site.

The board stood by their three-two vote to amend the plan; selectmen Donn Byrne and Norma Gammon had voted against the sewer plan amendment.

Bargaining Halted By Restructuring

Contract negotiations between the Andover School Committee and Andover's 22 school administrators are at a halt because of the school administration reorganization plan that transferred six of the administrators from their administrative positions back into the classrooms.

The six job changes are a result of the elimination of six program advisor positions within the schools. The program heads currently oversee individual subjects and supervise teachers system-wide. Without them many school officials are predicting the consistency of programs from kindergarten through grade 12 will suffer.

The administrators, represented by the Teamsters Local 380, will finish their current three-year contract at the end of June, said chief negotiator for the administrators Will Hixon, an assistant principal at Andover High School. Without a contract to pick up where the present one leaves off the administrators would continue under the terms of the present contract for another year, said Hixon.

Hixon said that although the administrators would prefer the School Committee to reconsider the six program administrator cuts, he understands the move was made because of budgetary constraints.

"This wasn't anything personal," said Hixon. "This is a case of a budget crunch. The School Committee has the power to eliminate the positions, that's an absolute."

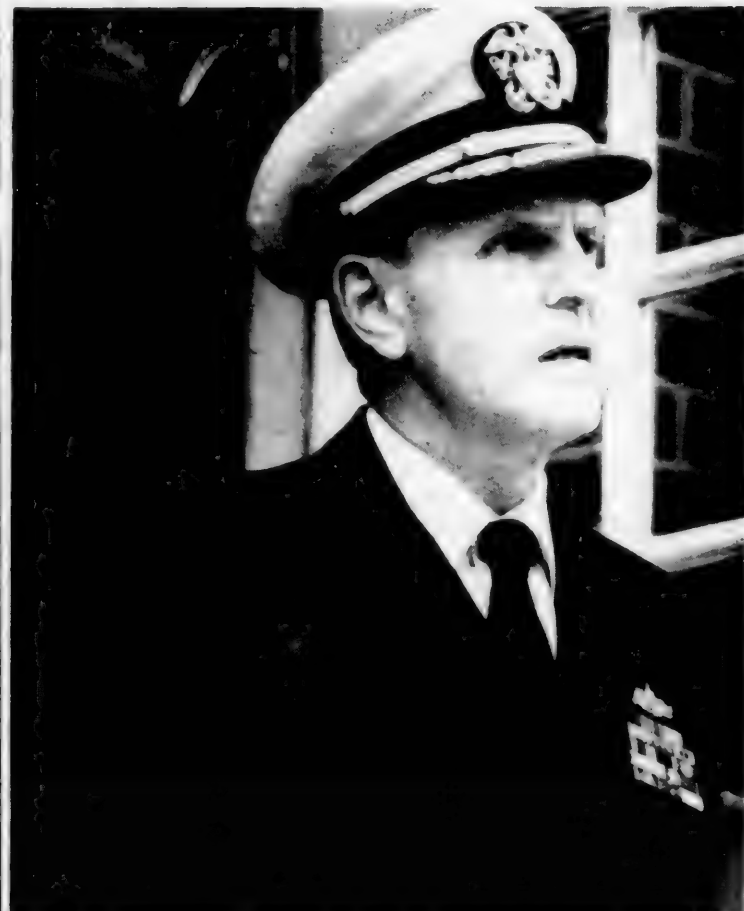

Robert F. Smith, the School Committee representative to the negotiations, told THE TOWNSMAN he believes the committee took the final move on the reorganization last week with a vote reaffirming

Among The Missing

Andover's annual Memorial Day program on Monday was an outstanding tribute.

In addition to the Andover veterans, civic, fraternal and scouting groups who participated, the appearance of the U.S. Army Band parading along the Street of Memorial Flags made this traditional event a memorable one.

There was, however, one group of community leaders noticeably absent from the parade route and the traditional exercises held at Memorial Auditorium, namely the board of selectmen.

Of the five-member municipal policy-making board, only one, Norma Gammon, saw fit to attend to civic duty by participating in the holiday program.

Now, it is understandable that the members of the board may have had other plans for this, the first long holiday weekend of the summer or vacation season.

Further, there may have been mitigating circumstances dictating their absence from the Memorial Day ceremonies.

But, there would seem to be an obligation on their part to participate in some way in this annual municipal observance as the elected leaders of the community.

In the line of march on Monday were school administrators and the unpaid members of the school committee.

Marching along at the head of the parade were the town manager, State Rep. Sue Tucker, clergy, off-duty members of the police and fire departments in full dress uniforms led by the respective chiefs.

But, nowhere to be seen were the four members of the board of selectmen.

We can understand and accept the fact that the salary of a selectman is not a commanding one, yet they do receive compensation. School committee members serve without pay and, as is characteristic in most communities, are involved in more controversy than is the town's top policy-making board.

True, selectmen have families and may have overriding responsibilities on a holiday weekend.

But none of this would seem to diminish the fact that having sought the office of municipal leadership, they then must accept the sacrifice that goes with it. Groundbreakings, ribbon cuttings, parades and patriotic observances may not be high on the list of personal priorities, but they are, nevertheless, matters to which those who offer themselves to public service must attend.

That four members were among the missing at this municipal observance this year seems a regrettable circumstance which certainly should be remedied on future occasions.

Report To Andover

By Rep. Sue Tucker

A Day In The Life. . .

Friends and constituents often ask me about my job, i.e. what does a State Representative really do all day? In spite of frequent articles in the major media which depict legislators as lazy and self-serving, most people recognize that we are expected to understand a broad range of complex issues as well as be responsive to our community and constituent needs.

Someone recently told me that the thing he remembered best from his college government course was a chart illustrating a Congressman's daily schedule. Here, with editorial comment, is a "typical" day in the life of your representative.

8 a.m. Breakfast meeting with Senator McGovern and local officials to discuss strategy on obtaining a federal waiver for the Lowell Junction Interchange.

10 a.m. Arrive at State House. Check daily calendar for bills coming up for debate and collect relevant files.

10 15 a.m. Go over mail and messages and do calendar with my assistant, Dave Scanzoni. Six letters from doctors opposing the ban on balance billing; three invitations to local functions; a "warning" from Barbara Anderson on a bill she claims will undermine Prop. 2 1/2; two thank-you notes for my vote on increased scholarship aid; four newsletters from various organizations; an "urgent" call from a colleague regarding a bill; three meeting notices; a constituent problem regarding mental health services; a constituent request for a bill.

11 a.m. Attend Education Committee hearing on tuition increases at state colleges and universities. Everyone testifies against the increases except the Board of Regents who comes in armed with data justifying the increases. Make list of people to contact before the committee votes next week.

Noon. Lobbyist from the phone company is waiting in my office to talk to me about a bill which just received a favorable committee report. It allows charges for directory assistance on business lines. He makes a good case, explaining that all customers subsidize the few who abuse the system. Most other states allow such charges. Make a note to learn more about this bill; there is always "another side to the story."

1 p.m.: First roll call in the chamber. Three non-controversial bills are read and passed. Debate begins on local aid distribution and lasts for hours.

3 p.m. Legislators' meeting with the Governor on MassBank is cancelled due to session.

4:30 p.m. House recesses without resolving local aid issues. Return to office to sign letters, get messages, make phone calls.

6 p.m. Arrive late at a reception being held to honor one of my constituents. Present a citation with pride, reminded again of the outstanding talent and contributions of Andover citizens.

Evening: Attend meeting, read briefs on pending legislation, return phone calls.

I encourage you to visit the State House, Monday-Thursday, when you are in Boston. The building is magnificent and attending a hearing or session can be very informative. I am located in R. 167 and would be pleased to see you.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — May 1909

Leroy S. Brown, a brother of Benjamin Brown, died at his home in North Reading, last Sunday, at the age of seventy six years. He was a member of Company H, First Massachusetts Heavy Artillery.

David Bruce, of Cuba street, was confined to the house a few days the early part of the week, the result of being hit on the elbow of the right arm by a badly thrown ball on the cricket field last Saturday afternoon. He hopes, however, to be able to take his place on the team tomorrow afternoon.

It is reported that the plans for the fiftieth anniversary of Pynchard are lagging. This is not as it should be. We have many times disagreed with the policy of Pynchard and we have had occasion to frequently criticize the conduct of the school. But nothing in the criticism or comment can take away from the splendid record made by the school in its fifty years of useful work in Andover.

If you think the Townsman's contention that the streets of Andover in the centre of the town have not been in so bad condition for 20 years as they are now is wrong take a ride on them.

50 Years Ago — May 1934

Andover had one of the shortest special town meetings in its history last night when in fifteen minutes the voters voted unanimously to float the school bonds on private loans, defeated a $24,000 road project, appropriated $750 for playground supervision and $8.00 for unpaid 1933 public welfare bills. The meeting was very poorly attended.

Chromium as a possible metal to be used in tomorrow's furniture is the feature of a new exhibition at the Addison Gallery. Two of the rooms on the second floor are devoted to modern furnishings of varied types. The chairs on the whole, while far from being beautiful, are quite presentable.

There is great interest among children and grownups in the June Carnival and Pet Show to be held, at the beautiful Wood Estate, North Main Street, for the benefit of the Andover Guild. Besides the classing and judging of pets, there will be many spectacular features, such as a military drill of 16 horses with 16 Abbot Academy girls in the saddle, a model airplane contest, a fencing exhibition by two Phillips Academy students, and a boxing match with the popular Tammany brothers in the ring.

25 Years Ago — May 1959

The Board of Appeals has given unanimous approval to the location of a Hawk missile test site off River road, but the Raytheon company, which will lease the land, is now waiting out a 20-day period before construction can begin. It is anticipated, however, that construction on the 10-acre leased site will begin immediately after this waiting period.

Friends of Victor J. Mill, Jr., acting town manager, have arranged a public testimonial for him the evening of June 3 at the Andover Country Club. The testimonial dinner will highlight presentation of a gift to Mr. Mill, who has been doing the work as acting manager without salary since early March.

Massachusetts "Blue Laws," though considered by many to be foolish and unnecessary, and out of date with the times, remain stubbornly on the books. And as long as they are in force, police must uphold them. This is a basis for complaint, we understand, by the Massachusetts Farm Bureau Federation, which claims farmers in the state may be stopped from working on Sunday, if a complaint is lodged with the police. The Federation points out that it is perfectly legal, even accepted in most communities, to play baseball, mow the grass, fish or play golf, on Sundays.

10 Years Ago — May 1974

Pledging to be obligated "only to the people," and characterizing incumbent Congressman Paul Cronin as "insensitive and unmoved by the abuses of the Nixon Administration," Paul Tsongas today announced his candidacy for Congress from the fifth district. Tsongas is presently a Middlesex

Educators Review New Projects

Learning more about space exploration, painting murals with an artist-in-residence or making antique toys and games out of wood with a local dentist are just a few of the ideas Andover's teachers have put forth in their proposals for some $85,000 worth of funding set aside for program development.

Each year there is money appropriated in the school budget to fund new projects. This year's $85,000 contrasts with last year's total of $37,000 spent on research and development. The obvious jump in development funds comes as a result of an administrative reorganization that cut six program advisor positions from the schools' roster. School officials hope that the development money will help "stimulate" some program development that may not otherwise happen, said Francis L. Paul, business manager of the town's schools.

About 35 proposals for new programs in the town's seven schools are in the hands of acting assistant superintendents Lois Haslam and Richard McGrail. They must sift through the plans and decide which will best fit into next year's curriculum, said McGrail who oversees the secondary schools. And it won't be an easy task. Haslam said with a smile that she would like to fund all 20 of the plans she has for the elementary schools she supervises.

The proposals range from requests for $50 to fund a project for one class at one school, to requests for thousands to implement new programs throughout the seven-school system.

Haslam said some of the program proposals she has received include plans for different strategies of grouping children, integrating or combining different subjects, projects for sexual abuse prevention and proposals for new coursework with computers

Some new proposal plans request funding for materials to a certain project. Others ask for time off from classroom teaching for an extended period which school officials call "mini-sabbaticals," and some request funding for only a few days.

"Every proposal deserves careful study," Haslam said. "We must decide which has the most impact on the greatest number of students."

McGrail said he has received plans for a new social studies program, which he said was a "major" undertaking. That compares with a smaller request by Andover High School Principal Mary Jennings to continue the Pynchard Institute for in-service programs for the town's teachers. McGrail said teachers will know whether their proposals will be funded or not by Friday, June 8.

Marathon

With two weeks remaining before the 1984 Bud Light Easter Seal Softball Marathon, the advance registration of teams indicates a record number of softball players will be going to bat for disabled children and adults during the event. Games will be played on June 9 - 10 at Burnham Road Fields in Methuen.

Among the first teams to sign up were Lawrence Police Department, Polo Clothing, Marshalls, Arlington Trust, Phoenix East, Red Hot Mamas, The Amazing Ten, Century 21, First Essex and Wolverine.

Teams must raise a minimum entry fee of $200 to participate for which they receive a trophy and two cases of Bud Light beer. Teams raising $250 or more will receive Bud Light T-shirts.

Bargaining

support for the plan. Smith said he thinks the negotiations will now start to move along.

The next negotiation session was set for tonight, after THE TOWNSMAN's press time.

Smoking Clinic

The successful Five Day Plan to Stop Smoking is being offered again by New England Memorial Hospital in Stoneham for smokers who want to quit. The course will meet for five consecutive nights, beginning June 17, from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the hospital's auditorium.

Smokers will receive motivational insights and learn effective techniques to quit, plus get through the withdrawal process. A professional staff, including a physician and health education, will show participants how to change their daily routine to become completely independent of tobacco.

Writing Workshop

Because of the overwhelming response to its spring workshop, "How to Write and Sell Romantic Novels," the Division of Continuing Education and Community Services at Northern Essex Community College will offer a second section on Saturday, June 2, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Grasso Nomination Approved

Andover attorney Joseph A. Grasso Jr., will be sworn in as an associate justice in Lowell District Court sometime in July after he "wraps up" business at his Lawrence law office.

Grasso, who lives at 53 Juniper Road, was unanimously approved for the post by the Governor's Executive Council last Wednesday, said council member John F. Markey, of North Andover, who represents Andover and surrounding towns on the council.

Markey said a vote by the council on Maurice Schwartz, who has been nominated for a judgeship in the Amesbury District Court, would take place late yesterday afternoon, after THE TOWNSMAN went to press.

Both men have law practices in Lawrence. Grasso, according to state law, has to leave partner Thomas Caffrey at the general legal practice they have at 300 Essex Street. And Schwartz, who lives at 7 Timothy Drive, practices general law with his daughter, Pamela S. Schwartz, at their 30 Lawrence Street office.

Grasso said he was looking forward to beginning work as an associate justice in Lowell.

"I'm very excited about the job," he said.

"I hope to begin working positively with the people of Lowell."

Haverhill Man Is Appointed

Richard Salenas of Haverhill has joined the Community Development and Planning staff as Andover's new electrical inspector, also known as inspector of wires.

Salenas, who started working in Andover on Tuesday, replaces Kenneth Smigliani. The former electrical inspector has moved on to a new position at Lawrence General Hospital.

The electrical inspector plays an important role in the building inspection division: responsibilities include enforcing the Massachusetts electrical code and fire alarm regulations for new construction; granting permits; inspecting all residential, commercial and industrial electrical installations, as well as inspecting electrical work at schools, day care centers, nursing homes and public buildings; approving electrical plans for all new buildings; and assisting the Fire Department in the inspection of fires.

Community Development Director Jonathan Gilmore advertised the vacant position in local newspapers earlier this month. According to the director, the position had to be filled as quickly as possible because new construction is in full swing during this season.

Kitchen Design

David A. Clement, designer

Since the refrigerator may be the single largest energy user in a kitchen, it makes sense to minimize its energy consumption in any way possible. First choose a model with efficient cabinet and door insulation. Consider a refrigerator with an in-door beverage or ice dispenser to minimize the loss of cooled air through frequent door openings. A kitchen may also be designed to locate the refrigerator away from the range and other heat-producing appliances, as well as out of direct sunlight. Settings of 40°F in the refrigerator section and 0°F in the freezer maximize energy efficiency.

Appliances and their location are an important part to any kitchen remodeling. When you want a complete job, come to WINDSOR KITCHENS. We can do it all for you from designing cabinets, chopping boards and counter tops to decorating walls and floors. Our staff will help you with an efficient layout and coordinate a total look. Installations are available. If you haven't thought about a full remodeling, visit our showroom at 1181 Boston Rd., Ward Hill and learn how a complete job now will save you money later. See us Mon.-Thurs. 9-5:30, Fri. til 8, Sat. til 2. Tel. 372-3444.

HANDY HINT:

To save energy, allow hot foods to cool before placing them in the refrigerator.

Babe Ruth Teams Open

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Blue and Gold Babe Ruth baseball teams will open their 1984 seasons this Sunday afternoon, squaring off against one another at the Doherty Junior High field.

Game time for the traditional opener is 1:30 p.m.

The two teams, both of which will play a 16-game Greater-Lawrence League schedule prior to playoffs, have been practicing for more than a month after their mid-April tryouts and team selections.

The Gold team consists of 15-year-olds Larry Aiello, Earl Abdo, Chris Colsia, Rick Lafond and Kurt Burzlaff, 14-year-olds Mike Lane, Scott Wallace, Chris Nelson, Mark Tucker and Chris Concemi, and 13-year-olds Andy Shea, Glen Farnham, Joe Lyons, Tom Murray and Mark Russell.

The Blue team is managed by Dick Allard, with Howie Smith and Tom Tormey the assistant coaches.

The Gold team is directed by Rick Harrison, Dan Grams and Jake Powell.

The Gold team, which swept the regular season and playoff championships in 1981 and 1982 while posting 26-3 and 24-3 records back-to-back, is coming off a 13-8 season in which they finished one game behind regular-season champ South Lawrence West before battling to the playoff semifinals.

Overall the Gold is 102-26 over the past five years.

The Blue posted an 11-10 overall record last summer, peaking in the playoffs where they advanced to the title round before bowing to North Andover.

The Blue-Gold series is in its fifth year, the Gold holding an 11-4 overall edge including 10 wins in the last 12 meetings.

The Gold will also engage South Lawrence West next Monday night at Mt. Vernon Park and South Lawrence East next Thursday evening at the Phillips Academy diamond.

The Blue returns to action next Monday against South Lawrence East at Mark Devlin Field, and Tuesday faces SLW at Phillips Academy.

All weeknight games begin at 6 p.m.

Chris Colsia is expected to pitch Sunday's opener for the Gold, while the Blue will probably counter with either Jeff Smith or Steve Surette.

In Who's Who

Todd Martin Orlando, an Andover student at Bentley College, Waltham, has been selected to appear in the 1984 edition of "Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges."

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Orlando. Orlando was chosen on the basis of his academic achievement, service to the college, extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

National League Minors

By Andy Shea

After four weeks of play, the six teams are nearing the mid-season mark in a fierce pennant race. This past week's games featured several upsets and a shuffling in the standings.

The red-hot Dodgers won twice, including knocking off the Braves. They lead the league with four wins and three defeats. Stars of the week were Mike Henry, Scott Buchanan and Keogh Lutsch.

Second place belongs to the Braves who were cooled off by the Dodgers and Phillies. Their record stands at 4 wins, 3 losses and a tie. Brendan O'Neil, Scott Halecki and Keith Lyons starred.

The Cardinals sit in third position with an even three triumphs and three defeats. They lost to the Dodgers. Leading players were Danny Feeley, Ken Gable and Jay Coburn.

The Giants continue to improve and are now in fourth place with a record of 3 wins, 3 losses and a tie. Pacing the Giants were Chuck Mundo, Wallers, tedt, Stephen Poor and John Constantine.

Fifth place is shared by the Phillies and Pirates with identical records of 3 wins and 4 losses. The Phillies upset the Braves while the Pirates were losing their only game to tighten the race. Phillies' stars were Chris Hall, Mike Walsh and Mat Lounsbury. The Pirates were sparked by Jason Barenholtz, Eric Milne and James Capeless.

National Major League

By Jim Arnold

The National League first-half championship remains up for grabs. With the Mets and Braves each at 5-3 and the Pirates close behind at 4-3-1, it is anyone's guess as to who will win.

All three clubs head into their ninth and final first-half contests with an equal chance.

The standings could remain deadlocked because those key games will be played against American League opposition. Further complicating things were this week's heavy rains.

Cubs 11 - Mets 8

The cubs apparently have the Mets' number. Al Minichiello's squad can only claim two wins, but both have come at the expense of Bill Batchelder's first-place nine.

Chris Caltagirone gave the Met staff whiplash by hammering out four hits. The lefty slugger accounted for six RBIs by homering, doubling and singling twice. His wrecking show overshadowed fine efforts by his teammates, especially Albie Minichiello and Sean Darwin.

After falling behind 3-1, the Cubs barraged Met hurlers with three runs in the third inning and six in the fourth.

Cub pitchers Chad Livingston, Steven Molineaux and Darwin shared the spotlight.

The Mets made things hairy with a last inning outburst, but it wasn't enough. Alan Hanley provided the most Met punch, going 3-for-3 at the plate.

Braves 3 - Pirates 2

Just a year ago, Tim Lincecum's Braves were a laughing stock, but those same Braves are having the last laugh. They are now just one game and a little luck away from a first-half championship.

This battle was a rain-shortened affair, but it may not have mattered how long the game went because Brave flamethrower David Blank was throwing goose eggs at the hardhitting Pirates.

It was the southpaw's second win. That, coupled with his three saves, gives Blank a hand in every Brave win this season.

His battery mate James Hopwood continued his ever-improving play. The Braves' backstop has contributed numerous clutch hits and defensive gems to his team's resurgence.

Coach Lane credits his boys with playing smart baseball and solid defense. Brave hits haven't come by bushel but are inevitably timely.

Cardinals 7 - Cubs 6

After a pair of excruciating last-inning losses, the vastly improved Cards notched a deserved victory.

Adam Brown picked up his second mound victory, going the route in the process. Brown helped himself by slamming a two-runner homer and handled several tough defensive chances.

Jason Proctor made the finest Redbird play of the season. The second baseman backpedaled, then lunged for what appeared to be a sure cub hit. He gloved the ball, though, guaranteeing himself a spot on the league highlight film.

Cardinal rookie Dave Corbett quietly continued to impress with his hustle. He had a key hit and roamed rightfield flawlessly.

For the Cubs, Chris Caltagirone hit a ton again. He belted a towering homer that would have exited Tiger Stadium. It was his fourth round-tripper of the campaign.

Mets 15 - Pirates 7

A young Met team which has surprised all season showed that they belong in first by thumping the Bucs.

Bill Batchelder led the parade by pitching four strong innings and connecting for two hits.

David Tucker chipped in once again with a save on the mound, as well as a pair of hits.

Ryan Legrow banged three hits and flashed a sure-handed mitt.

For the Pirates, Scott Lanouette clobbered two homers. He now has three four-baggers this year to go along with his .550 batting average.

Andover American Major Little League

The Red Sox walloped the Orioles 18-3 behind the pitching of Sean Ryan and the hitting of George Bilger. Ryan gave up only three hits while striking out six in five innings. Bilger was 4-for-4 including two doubles to pace the heavy hitting Red Sox attack. Mike Tiberii and Joe Larrobino chipped in with two hits apiece for the Sox.

The Red Sox beat the Indians 20-3 as Bilger and Ryan combined to hold the Indians to just two hits. Adam Ferry had four hits for the Red Sox, a double and three singles. Pete Van Olinda had three hits, a double and two singles. Ryan was 2-for-2 along with three walks in five times at bat, including a three-run double. Paul Lembo and Dave Copp chipped in with two hits each.

The monkey wrench is named after its inventor, a London blacksmith named Charles Moncke.

Orlando, Jones Win Bentley Hoop Awards

If the 1983-84 Bentley College men's basketball awards are any indication, the Falcon coaching staff will be making more recruiting trips to the Merrimack Valley League.

Former MVL players swept this year's awards. Head Coach Brian Hammel announced recently, Andover's Todd Orlando was selected as the Most Valuable Player. Billerica's Derek Dixon was named the Most Improved Player and Kim Jones of Andover was the recipient of the Coaches Award.

The three players led the Falcons to a third-place regular season finish in the Northeast-8 Conference and their second straight 18-9 record.

Orlando, a 6'10" senior who was named a second team Division II All-American by Basketball Weekly, received MVP honors for the second consecutive season after leading the Falcons in scoring, rebounding, fieldgoal percentage and blocked shots.

The former Andover High star averaged 15.9 points, 9.3 rebounds and 2.1 blocked shots in his final collegiate season. He was also ranked nationally in fieldgoal percentage for the fourth straight year with a school record-tying .636.

Orlando finished his career with 1,671 points, second best in Bentley history (trailing only his coach, who graduated in 1975 with 1,767 points). The two-time first-team All-Conference selection also became just the third player in Bentley history to grab at least 1,000 rebounds and set career records in a number of categories, including fieldgoal percentage, blocked shots and games played.

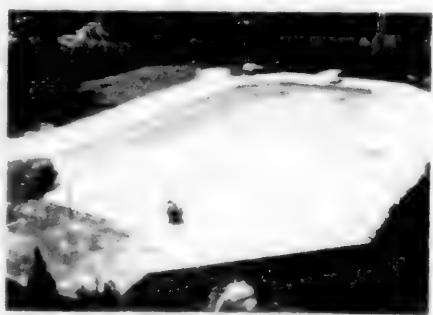

Dixon, a 6'1" guard, averaged 7.1 points in his first season out of Billerica High. Playing an average of 20 minutes a contest, he also contributed 56 rebounds, 54 assists and 21 steals during the 1983-84 campaign.

Dixon, who tallied a season-high 18 points against Quinnipiac, improved his shooting considerably over the course of the season. In Northeast-8

On The Soccer Fields

By She Livermore

With play-off action ahead which has to be completed before the end of the school year, Essex County League did not interrupt the schedule for Memorial Day weekend. brief results of those games appear below. The In-Town Program took a breather last weekend and will resume action on Saturday.

Under 19 Division

Andover Stompers 4

North Andover Raiders 1

Andover Stompers 0

North Andover Raiders 8

In a mid-week make-up game, the Stompers had no difficulty in handing the North Andover Raiders their first loss of the season. David Keene put Andover in the lead with one of his perfect direct kicks. Paul Hevehan made it 2-0 on a long shot when he picked up a loose ball, following a corner kick by Curt Oliver. In the second half Rick Bucher scored unassisted and Oliver completed Andover's scoring when he headed in the ball off a beautiful cross from Bucher. North Andover denied the shutout in the closing moments of the game when they scored on the rebound of a shot which hit the goalpost.

In the re-match on Sunday North Andover avenged its earlier loss 8-0. Andover started with nine players and were reduced to eight at half-time, facing a full complement of Raiders. They worked hard, but could not contain the Raiders' offense who pressed repeatedly.

Andover made two great attempts to deny the shutout, but the competition used questionable tactics to prevent them (tripping) and they could not take advantage of the free kicks. BOW: Reed, Shapiro, Keene, Bucher, Drake, Oliver, Livermore, Sheehy and Penney.

Andover Rowdies 4

Salem Spirit 0

Michelle Poisson put Andover ahead in the first half when she scored on a pass from Kara Oliver. The Rowdies continued their domination in the second half and added three more to their total (Suzanne Curley, Kathy Neaves and Devra Weisman; Kathy Murphy and Neaves assisted) to win 4-0. BOW: Joanne Martin, Karen Safia and Weisman.

Under 16 Division

Andover United 4

North Andover Knights 1

David Doyle scored early in the game on a pass from David Bartle to put Andover in the lead. Doyle made it 2-0 with one minute left in the first half on a pass from Mike Hardock. North Andover penetrated the defense in the second half and narrowed the gap when they tallied but Andover responded with two more (Chris Poor and Hardock on a pass from Doyle) to win 4-1. BOW: Mat Young and Chris DiClemente.

Andover Avengers 0

Hamilton-Wenham Soccer Balls 4

Hamilton-Wenham played aggressively throughout and scored two goals in the first half and added another two in the second to win 4-0. BOW: Jules Mederos, Jim Astbury and keeper Andy Lascher for making some great saves and minimizing the loss.

Andover Attackers 1

Georgetown Enforcers 7

Andover Attackers 7

Ipswich Strikers 0

Andover Attackers 4

Ipswich Strikers 4

Both teams were shorthanded but Georgetown had the edge. They dominated throughout and kicked in five goals in the first half and added two more in the second to lead 7-0. Determined to deny the shutout the Attackers pressed and, in the closing moments of play, accomplished their objective when Dave Flanders made a great shot on net with the assist going to Dan O'Brien. BOW: Goalkeeper Luke Wennik and Tim Smith for minimizing the loss.

In a mid-week game against Ipswich, the Attackers dominated the contest and kicked in two goals in the first half and added five more in the second to win a lopsided 7-0 victory. Scoring were Stevie DuMosch, Mike Coco, Dave Flanders (3), Raj Sheel and Lukas Wennik. Wennik DuMosch, Coco and Sheel assisted. BOW: Jim Pfeiffer and Sung Jin Park.

In a re-match with Ipswich, the Attackers once again controlled much of the game, although good defense held them to a 4-0 victory. Eric Buchholz and Raj Sheel gave them a 2-0 lead at the half-way mark (Mike Coco assisted Buchholz). Coco and Steve DuMosch added two more in the second half on passes by Buchholz and Kyle Marcella. BOW: goalkeeper Wennik, Tom Herling and Fred Whitten for holding the opposition scoreless.

keeper to the ball and blasted it into the net. They were fighting for the equalizer when time ran out. BOW: goalkeeper Karen DelSarto for some great saves.

In a mid-week game Swampscott took the lead in the first half on a breakaway. Towards the end of the half Sharon Petzold picked up a ball which the defense had tried to clear, dribbled it around two or three players and made a perfect shot on net to make it 1-1. Both teams worked hard for the extra goal and the win but good defense on both sides denied all efforts and the game ended in a hard-fought tie. BOW: Beth Howe and Micaela Corkery.

Andover Clippers 3

Andover Hurricanes 0

The Clippers played a strong first half during which they took a commanding 3-0 lead with goals by Cara Workman, Kelly Moynihan and Pilar Caballero, the latter on a pass from Dainia Gammon. The Hurricanes pressed in the second half and made some good attempts to deny the shutout but the Clippers' defense held firm and they won the hard-fought victory. Andover Panthers 1

Andover Rangers 0

In a game with Salem the first half was scoreless. Midway through the second Sandra Liaw made a great shot on net on passes from Kelley Hajj and Teri Babine to win the victory for Andover. BOW: Laura Cox and Mary Ellen Green.

The Panthers dominated throughout the entire makeup game with Rowley and kicked in two goals in the first half and added another seven in the second to win a resounding 9-0 victory. Scoring were Sara Horton who kicked in four goals, Hajj added two and Liaw, Green and Christina Loukatos had one apiece. BOW: Debbie Donovan and Amy Williams.

The competition was much tougher in their final outing of the week when the Panthers were matched against the Rangers (another Andover team). The Panthers won the victory, however, when Horton made a perfect shot on net on a fine pass from Laura Cox. BOW: Marisa Murtagh and Diane Bohaker (Panthers).

Andover Strikers 0

Boxford Soccer Club 0

Although Andover controlled much of the play in their game with Boxford, their many attempts to penetrate the defense met with stiff opposition and when they did take long shots on net, the keeper rejected them. With time running out Andover was awarded a penalty kick but could not complete it and the game ended in a hard-fought 0-0 tie. BOW: Mina Sheel, Tricia Doyle and Melissa Kirkiles.

Andover Sharks 1

Danvers Rovers 4

Miles David put Andover in the lead early in the game when he completed a penalty shot. In the second half Danvers pressed the attack repeatedly, tied it up and kicked in three more goals to win 4-1. BOW: Bill Koromhas

Andover Titans 0

Saugus Hawks 1

Saugus went ahead in the first half 1-0. In the second half Andover worked hard to score the equalizer and succeeded when Kyle Murphy made a fine shot on net on a pass from Jeff Goodman. The goal was denied by the referee, however, and Saugus won the hard-fought 1-0 victory. BOW: Matthew Maderos and Eric Friese

Andover Bucaneers 1

Marblehead Meteors 0

The Bucaneers tasted their first thrill of victory last weekend when they beat Marblehead 1-0. Eric Patterson kicked in the winning goal on a fine pass by Peter VanDerPot midway through the first half.

Marblehead pressed and made many attempts to score the equalizer but keeper Davey Ahouse preserved the win for Andover by making some great saves, including blocking a penalty shot. BOW: Adam Galvin and Ricky Bertetti.

Andover Cobras 7

Marblehead Centaurs 0

Andover overwhelmed a young Marblehead team when they kicked in six goals in the first half and added one more in the second to win a decisive 7-0 victory. Three players scored two goals apiece.

Brenna Cronin, Jodi Sanders and Erin Lynch and Laura Hebeisen completed the scoring. Assisting in the tallies were Bridget Murpy, Kathy Doran, Susan Goldstein, Nicole Ricci, Lynn Baker, Lynch, Cronin and Sanders. BOW: Andrea Duff, Cronin and Lynch.

games, the freshman shot 500 from the field and was 20 of 24 (833) at the charity stripe. Overall, his percentages for the season were .448 and .720.

Jones, a 6'5" junior forward who now resides in Columbia, Md., was one of the nation's top shooters for most of the season, finishing at .627. The only player other than Orlando to start every game, he averaged 10.9 points and 6.3 rebounds, both career-high figures for the son of Celtics' Coach K.C. Jones.

Jones, a second-team All-Conference honoree, excelled not only offensively, but also defensively for the Falcons. Among his accomplishments this year was becoming just the first Bentley player to ever have more steals (45) than turnovers (44) in a season.

Linnea Gershenberg, Andover's early childhood education coordinator, shows some of the work being done in the doorways of the Shawsheen School to comply with town building codes.

neth R. Seifert told THE TOWNSMAN that he began talking about the possibility of a separate early childhood building fifteen years ago, when he arrived in town. The plan was revived about two years ago, said Seifert. In February the School Committee approved the Shawsheen plan.

Developmental testing began for placement in the schools back in 1977, the year Gershenberg started teaching in Andover. Seven years ago grammar school teachers were finding that children thought to be "very bright" were not doing well in school. Parents were blaming teachers and teachers were blaming parents, said Gershenberg, but no one was looking at the child.

The result was the institution, the next year, of the Gesell Development Testing, a battery of tests which help determine appropriate placement for each child. Gershenberg explained that the tests help define the "essence" of behavior in each child. That means finding out where they are most comfortable in peer associations, testing to see whether they are ready to sit and take classroom instruction and able to speak comfortably in a group their age.

Gershenberg will be the equivalent of a principal at the Shawsheen School come September. She talks about the school's opening with pride and excitement in the programs she has had a major part in developing.

"When they think of all its positive aspects people are really warming up to the idea," she says of townspeople's reactions to the Shawsheen concept. "It will be so much more effective to work together in one building as a whole and meet as a team."

County Commissioner. He has also served as a Lowell City Councillor, and Deputy Assistant Attorney General. He is 33 years old.

College board scores at Andover High School are declining and have been for at least five years. Principal Philip Wormwood reported to the School Committee Tuesday night, before an audience that nearly filled the East Junior High auditorium. What was not clear, however, after more than two hours of discussion, was why the scores have dropped and what to do about it, and much of that issue seemed wide open to conjecture.

The Andover School Committee voted 4-1 Tuesday night to advertise an opening for an "associate superintendent," despite the fact that Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert said he could not recommend the position or the reorganization chart onto which it would fit. The committee did, however, agree to further discuss the reorganization, which basically calls for a number two man and a personnel supervisor instead of two assistant superintendents, and its implications, while the search is going on.

Firm Holds Open House

With "Things Are Blooming" as its theme, Advertising Concepts, Inc. recently hosted an Open House for several clients and friends.

The two-year-old ad specialty and sales promotion company is one of several new residents of The Willows Professional Park, an office condominium complex on Turnpike Street.

Although "The Willows" has been the company's new home for five months, president Frank Fricano—who resides in Andover, decided "to wait for Spring" before holding the event.

Springtime seemed a natural tie-in to the company growing and thriving in its new surroundings," he said. "Also, it was an appropriate time to invite clients and friends for a bit of socializing and browsing.

Amid yellow mums and green balloons, 100 to 150 guests were encouraged to browse through the many sample items on display in the company's showroom.

"I feel like a kid in a candy store," commented one guest while viewing items from polished brass business card cases to athletic t-shirts and caps.

Specialty advertising, according to Fricano, "is unique. It's a no-strings-attached, goodwill form of saying 'congratulations, thank you or remember us' for businesses who want to keep old friends and make new ones.

There is no limit to what a business can do with specialty advertising. All it takes is a desire to promote business from the client and lots of creativity and imagination from us."

Appropriately enough, as guests were leaving, they were given several specialty items imprinted with the Advertising Concepts, Inc. name and phone number.

Among them were a crystal apothecary jar filled with candy, a personalized desk noteholder, assorted pens, pencils, key tags and lighters and, of course, the company catalog.

Used alone or to complement an ongoing and full-scale advertising strategy, Advertising Concepts, Inc. has supplied specialty items for clients such as New England Telephone, Wang Laboratories, Inc., Watts Regulator, Sheraton-Boston Hotel, Wakefield Distribution Services, American Contract Bridge League, Century Bank and Trust Co., Dynaics Research Corp. and The Bank of Boston, as well as many companies in the North Shore area.

Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock

The Rev. Dr. Arthur Stanley Wheelock of Osterville, a former pastor of the Free Christian Church in Andover, died May 23 at Cape Cod Hospital following a long illness. He was 92.

Born in Hingham, the Rev. Wheelock was a 1910 graduate of Marlboro High School, a 1914 graduate of Dartmouth College, and a 1917 graduate of the Andover-Harvard Theological Seminary. He was ordained in Bedford in 1917. During the First World War, he served in Europe with the U.S. Army in the 23rd Infantry, Second Division.

He served as pastor in several Congregational churches, including the Free Christian Church of Andover during the twenties, and was pastor of Church In The Highlands, White Plains, N.Y., for 27 years. He retired from that post in 1958, when he was elected pastor emeritus and retired to Osterville. He was named to the staff of the West Parish Congregational Church in West Barnstable in 1970, and served in that role for two years.

In 1948 he became a member of the executive committee of the Congregational Christian Churches, which worked for the merger with the Evangelical and Reformed Church to form the United Church of Christ, which now has a membership of two million. Those efforts earned the Rev. Wheelock an honorary degree of doctor of divinity from Elon College in North Carolina. He was elected treasurer of the International Congregational Council in 1952, and held that office for 13 years.

He leaves his wife, Pauline M. (Sanderson) Wheelock of Osterville; two sons, Arthur Stanley, Jr. of Sarasota, Fla. and Richard S. of Tyler, Texas; and two granddaughters.

A memorial service was held Wednesday afternoon at the West Parish Congregational Church, West Barnstable.

Memorial contributions may be made to the West Parish Congregational Church Memorial Fund, P.O. Box 201 West Barnstable, 02668.

Playground Programs

The Department of Community Services Summer Tiny Tot and Preschool programs will offer a wide range of activities for children ages 3-6 years. The two programs will be held at Bancroft School from Thursday, June 28, through Friday, Aug. 17, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Tiny Tot parents have the option of registering children for a twice a week or three times a week session, whereas, the Preschoolers will meet five days a week. The summer program is broken into four two-week sessions: Session I, June 28-July 6; Session II, July 9-20; Session III, July 23-Aug. 3; Session IV, Aug. 6-17. Priority will be given to those registering for four weeks or more. This applies until June 1. Special discount rates for children registered for four and eight weeks apply only when registering for a full four or eight weeks at the time of registration (not add-ons to equal larger number). The program will be coordinated by last year's senior staff members Ann Wilde and Debbie Szarlaz. A parent orientation meeting will be held Tuesday, June 19, from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at Bancroft School for all parents who have registered. Enrollments are limited and are filled on a first come-first serve basis. Registration is continuing at the DCS office on Bartlet St.

Vacation Security

Summer is a time for family vacations and outings to the beach or mountains. However, for burglars it's an opportunity to pay a visit to an unoccupied home. According to FBI statistics, the number of burglary offenses increases sharply during the summer vacation period.

The Insurance Information Institute's brochure, "Home Security Basics," offers suggestions on how to prevent your home or apartment from becoming an easy mark for thieves.

When you and the family are going to be away from home, whether it's for a day, week or longer, ask a neighbor to keep an eye on your property and report trespassers to the police.

Leave window shades up and keep a radio playing all day to give the impression there is someone at home. Equip doors with dead-bolt or double cylinder locks. A slide-bolt with a key will help secure a sliding glass door. Don't leave extra keys around the mailbox.

doormat or flower pots. Change your locks if your keys are lost.

Elm Street Automotive

Count on Elm Street Automotive, 15 Elm St., Andover, whenever you have car trouble this summer. A member of AAA, Elm Street Automotive has six wreckers standing by to assist you.

Anytime of the day or night and no matter what kind of vehicle you have, a car, a foreign car that needs flatbed towing, a truck or anything that's towable, they can be at your side within minutes to give emergency roadside service, towing or automotive repairs of any kind.

The summer is no time to be without a car. Your car could overheat in bumper-to-bumper traffic, break down on your vacation or just conk out from the summer heat. The best way to solve those bothersome car problems in prevention. Bring your car to Elm Street Auto for a complete tuneup. They'll check your car for leaky hoses, examine your car for possible cooling system problems and make sure your car is in top form so you can enjoy your summer.

Owner Ron Abraham and his crew, John Driscoll, Scott Flynn, Eddie Wagner and Jim Landry, will also handle complete auto repairs, all engine transmission work and diagnose any automotive problems. They specialize in foreign and fine car repairs.

You can trust the workmanship at Elm Street Auto. They guarantee satisfaction on all repair work. Whether you have an efficient compact, an economical foreign car or a flashy Corvette, Elm Street Auto is the place for you.

Don't let car problems get you down this summer. Make your summer worry free and have your car checked at Elm Street Auto and, if you do have car problems this summer, give them a call and they'll quickly have you on your way.

Open Monday-Friday 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday, 7 a.m. to 12 noon. Call 475-5873. Texaco, Mastercard Visa and Bank Americard accepted.

Spyro's Seafood and Steak House

Give yourself a treat this summer and dine at Spyro's Seafood and Steak House, 10 Sutton St., North Andover, along the banks of the mighty Merrimack River and just across the Shawshoeh River. With a comfortable, relaxed atmosphere and delicious quality food at an economical price, Spyro's business has been steadily growing. As the customer put it, the more you eat out, the more you'll love Spyro's.

Spyro's offers family dining at its best. Whether it's too hot to cook, you want to meet dad for Father's Day or you want a special celebration dinner, Spyro's is the place for you. You can choose from a wide variety of seafood, sizzling steak and vegetable specialties, plus lamb chops, ribs and more. And every day there's at least a half a dozen blackboard specials from which to choose. With food on the blackboard in the outdoor patio, the specials change every day and are always a delicious bargain.

Open daily, Spyro's has the same menu all day every day as well as the same prices. The prices don't go up on the weekend and you know whether you're getting more for your money at Spyro's.

And don't forget to try the Hour from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

And if you're planning a special celebration, the lovely Gold Room Banquet Hall provides an elegant atmosphere for any special event. Up to 300 people can be accommodated in the Gold Room, but it can also be divided for smaller groups.

Let Spyro lend you his experience for your special occasion. Whether you're celebrating an anniversary or any type of party, services offered with the use of the Gold Room include wine and champagne toasts, menus, floral arrangements, a wedding party, and order wedding cake and all reception services. For a truly special celebration, scrumptious food and relaxed atmosphere will make you a regular. Call today, 475-7474, 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. (during 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. hours).

Peru Visitors

From left, Kathy Musser and Babbi Schick, both of North Andover, and baby Sarah and Vikki Melvin, of Andover, discuss their trip, with a dozen other South Church members, to Peru.

Peru

wanted to lend our support and so express our gratitude."

Also making the trip were Kathy Clark, of North Andover; Rena Sanborn, Nancy Larsen, Craig Sorrie and Wendy Finlayson of Andover; South Church's Rev. Katherine Kallis and Mark Kallis, of Hingham.

When they first arrived the group spent three days in Lima visiting latin clergymen before traveling to the Andes Mountains and Huanuco to stay with the Webers.

The South American experience was surprisingly devoid of any anti-American sentiments that Melvin said she was expecting. In fact, they found only warm welcomes, said Schick. And it took them by surprise that amid the realities of such a hard life the Indians of Peru lived without despair.

The pace of life in Peru is much slower than here," said Melvin.

Schick said that it was as if each day was "a blessing," in the mountain villages. "They have a sense of passing that blessing on," she said, "and sharing their love."

The trip has strengthened the South Church connection with its missionaries in Peru, said Schick, adding that they now have an appreciation for the needs of the missionaries, both spiritual and otherwise.

A slide show and narration of the Peru trip by the 15 South Church members is set for Sunday, June 17, after the 9:30 a.m. church service. For more information about the journey, contact any of the travelers through the church.

It will take time for her to realize the full impact of her trip to Peru, said Kathy Musser who added that she now feels need to explore what it means to be "in solidarity" with the peoples of Latin America.

"I don't want the trip to just have happened and then go on with my daily life," she said.

Child Care

The Salem State College Child Care Center will offer a nature program for children from 2.9 years to 6 years old from July 2-August 10. The center will be open from 7:45 a.m. to 1 p.m. with flexible day and hour schedules. Registration date is Monday, June 4 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Child Care Office, Alumni House, South Campus.

Registration Continues

The Department of Community Services summer specialty playgrounds are continuing to fill at the office on Bartlet Street. Parents may register for the following programs: Tiny Tot (ages 3 and 4), Preschool (ages 4½-6), All Day (K-6) and Special Needs (ages 3-22). Contact the department for individual playground hours and for the fee schedules. All playgrounds will be open from June 28-August 17.

BUYING MORE THAN A HOUSE

Location probably has more influence in the value of a home than any other factor. The word location translates into neighborhood. When you buy a home, you are also buying a neighborhood. Make sure you check out the neighborhood as well as the house before you make that all important decision.

You should not feel overbearing in asking your agent to drive around the area. If you have any questions, be sure to make note of them. Will zoning allow you to add onto your house at a later date? When were local taxes reassessed last? Are there plans to open or close schools? Is the neighborhood restricted to single family houses? What is the tax rate, proximity to public transportation, shopping, schools, hospitals? What has been the rate of property value increase?

Your agent should be willing to answer or research your questions. As a prospective buyer, you are buying a house AND a neighborhood.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 5 Punchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

SERVICE TO BUYERS

Real estate brokers often emphasize their services to home buyers: how they'll find the just-right house, help with financing, line up movers and service people, etc. Does this mean anything to you, the homeowner who's considering selling? If you're a seller, do you care what we do for buyers?

You should! Because anything that makes it easier for a buyer to buy makes it easier for you to sell! Sometimes it may seem that a broker is doing more for the buyer than for the seller. After all, we spend more time with prospective buyers, finding out what they need and want, then ferrying them to appropriate properties. We invest a lot of time with buyers - but we're doing it on your account! When you list your home, you put us on YOUR team. Any service to the buyer is directed toward selling YOUR property.

Let us tell you about our services to SELLERS. We'll show you how our marketing program works, how we'll advertise your home and get you a good price. You'll like the service YOU get when you list your house at —

After an average of two years, you can become a General Manager of 1 unit and earn a base Salary of $19,240 and an additional bonus every 6 months. An attractive Benefits program and Deferred Profit Sharing Plan are also available.

If you own a car call collect to: (617) 461-1130, 461-1131 or 461-1132 between 8:30am and 5:00pm Mon.-Wed., 8:30am and 4:00pm Thurs.-Fri.

MEET OUR NEW RELOCATION DIRECTOR...
NANCY CARLSON

Moving, like all changes, causes trauma for a family - but, the more you know about your new community, the easier the transition.

Nancy has a wealth of information about the Andovers for families moving here, and the resources and ability to obtain all the information for you about the community you may be moving to.

She is a delight to work with - bright and intuitive, caring and understanding - and, most of all, a great listener!

Nancy, along with one of our capable and experienced sales associates are here to help you with your next move - be it across the street, or across the nation.

MEET DEBBIE BARENBOIM

Our newest Associate, Debbie is a life-long Andover resident who attended Andover public schools and college in Massachusetts as well. In recent years, she has been office manager for a large oral surgery practice in Boston.

Debbie returned to her native Andover several years ago and purchased a condominium at Washington Park. She has renewed old friendships and, with her outgoing and relaxed personality, made many new friends. A real estate broker for many years, Debbie comes from a family with wide business experience in the Merrimack Valley. This, plus her enthusiasm and knowledge of the area, have made Ms. Barenboim much in demand by those buyers and sellers in need of sound advice. Give Debbie a call - she'll make finding the perfect home a pleasure.

SHEILA DOHERTY

Andover Neurologist May Study Wilder's Brain

An Andover man may be involved in the neurological study of the brain of Christopher Wilder, the accused killer and rapist, who died in a struggle with New Hampshire police on April 13.

The New Hampshire pathologist who performed the autopsy on Wilder confirmed that Wilder's brain was sent to Boston on Sunday, May 20, for study by physicians at Beth Israel Hospital, which is affiliated with Harvard Medical School, in Boston. Dr. Albert Galaburda, who lives at 7 Blueberry Hill Road, is a behavioral neurologist at the Harvard-affiliated Boston hospital. But Galaburda has not returned THE TOWNSMAN's calls to comment on research he may be involved in there.

Andrew Issac, assistant attorney general of New Hampshire's criminal investigations, told THE TOWNSMAN that the state was interested in "furthering legitimate scientific study" of Wilder's brain that might be pertinent to the state's investigation. Issac added that study of the brain would might give a "physical explanation" for Wilder's behavior.

The research by Boston doctors would involve first preserving the brain in solution for up to nine months, said Robert Christie, the New Hampshire physician who conducted Wilder's autopsy. Then, explained Christie, the brain would be studied for lesions, tumors or other abnormalities.

From his Florida home Wilder allegedly went on a killing-spree stretching from Florida through New England and ended in Colebrook, N.H., just miles from the Canada border. New Hampshire officials suspect Wilder was trying to elude a massive FBI hunt and escape to Canada.

The findings of the medical tests may never be known though, because Wilder's family has asked Beth Israel officials not to give out any information on the subject. Anthony Lloyd, vice-president of the hospital, said only that Beth Israel has requested the brain for study.

Wilder's body was cremated in his home town of Boynton Beach, Florida.
